FATHER'S DAY.

"Father's Day" has been inaugurated in Spokane, Wash., by Rev. Dr. William J. Hindley, pastor of a Congregational church. In founding it Dr. Hindley said he wanted to give every body "a chance to speak a few kind words for the 'old man' who surely needs sympathy." The few kind words were said last Sunday, and, perhaps, the "old man" felt better for them. When the movement spreads through out the country, as the founder and his followers believe it will, papa probably will begin to chirk up and feel that he is appreciated at something approaching his own estimate of his real worth. Mother already has her day, and its observance, we hope, brings joy to her dear old soul, but father has been rather a negligible quantity in the household scheme. It is true he is permitted to provide the money to pay the bills, but what does it profit a man to own a palatial home and supply the table with the fat of the land if he must adjourn to the cellar or the back steps to smoke his pipe or cigar because tobacco smoke is injurious to the lace curtains he did not select but had to pay for? Nor does it add to the joys of his outcast in cotinuous vigil to listen to the strains of "Everybody Works but Father," as played and sung by the young hopefuls amid the comfortable surroundings from which he has been banished. Surely father needs a little sympathy, and perhaps a little more consideration.

Some of the New Jersey farmers are advocating a form of conservation that is rather out of the ordinary. Deer have been so well protected in the state that the animals have multiplied to a remarkable extent and have become so fearless and commit so many depredations in the fields that the farmers regard them as nuisances. To molest a deer at this season means severe punishment, but the sufferers are moving to secure such action as will save their crops from destruction. Vermont and some other northern localities report occasional damage to vegetation by deer, but it sounds rather oddly to hear of such things in a state which is largely a suburb of the metropolis.

The official figures showing immigration into the United States for the calendar year 1910 indicate that the movement is once more at high tide. The total arrivals for May were 169,472, which has not been surpassed since 1907, a record-breaker. That year 184,886 aliens came here in May. But soon after there was a subsidence. This year, however, the accessions continue in increasing volume. The total immigration was 1,334,166; in 1908, following the "panic," it fell to 410,319; in 1909 it was 957,106; and this year, up to and including May, it has been 549,498, with a good prospect of attaining and perhaps exceeding the 1907 total for the entire twelve months.

Numerous arrests for smuggling give evidence both that this particularly contemptible form of offense against the national laws is prevalent and that the customs officials in New York are thoroughly on the job. Collector Loeb started in by making it clear that he did not intend to subject passengers on incoming steamers to unnecessary annoyance and inconvenience, while at the same time he should exact compliance with the treasury regulations. There can be no good ground for complaint against this system. The person detected in smuggling may be set down as a willful offender and entitled to no sympathy when caught in attempts to cheat the government.

Aviation is going to have its martyrs like other great enterprises, the more as they are, in a way, fanatics, too; for no amount of danger and actual accident will deter men from trying to conquer this elusive element or dim its fatal fascinations. The measure of success which has attended latter-day effort will serve to minimize effects of the danger still more.

Cholera spreads in Russia because so many people do not seem to see much difference living under the czar and dying with the cholera. At least that appears to be the interpretation of the reports about the fatalistic way they neglect to take the most ordinary precautions.

An auto while traveling in New York turned turtle and broke a surgeon's leg, which may be put down as a gross infraction of professional courtesy.

Behold how blessed we are with the abundance of the earth—green corn, tomatoes, peaches, cantaloupe, cunnings and ice cream soda!

What would the vaudiville singer who had his upper lip treated by a chiropodist do for a corn?

A Protection Against the Heat.
When you begin to think it's a personal matter between you and the sun to see which is the hotter, buy yourself a glass or a bottle of Coca-Cola. It is cooling—relieves fatigue and quenches the thirst. Wholesome as the purest water and lots nicer to drink. At soda fountains and carbonated in bottles—5c everywhere. Send 2c stamp for booklet "The Truth About Coca-Cola" and the Coca-Cola Baseball Record Book for 1910. The latter contains the famous poem "Casey At The Bat," records, schedules for both leagues, and other valuable baseball information compiled by authorities. Address The Coca-Cola Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Carrying His Audience With Him.
Nobody was more witty or more bitter than Lord Ellenborough. A young lawyer, trembling with fear, rose to make his first speech, and began: "My lord, my unfortunate client— My lord, my unfortunate client— My lord—" "Go on, sir, go on!" said Lord Ellenborough, "as far as you have proceeded hitherto the court is entirely with you."

If black could not be made to look like white, toasted cheese would not have so much drawing power toward the mouse trap.

Household Topics.
Nothing is more refreshing than a cup of good tea when one is traveling and nothing is harder to find when one is en route. One way to be sure of it is to provide one's favorite brand and tie it up by teaspoonfuls in squares of loosely woven cheesecloth. When a cup of tea is wanted, ice water or hot water is never difficult to obtain, and one's own bag may provide the beverage. The bag is easier to throw away than the loose dregs. The little bags should be kept in a tin box or the flavor will be lost if the trip is to be of any length. A tea making spoon or a tea ball answers the same purpose, but it leaves the dregs to be disposed of and is more messy.

Breakfast Food Pies.
Take any one of the flaked, ready-cooked breakfast foods and mix with about half the quantity of rich cream, to form a moist paste. With this line a well-oiled pie plate, molding it around the edges to resemble ordinary pie crust. Pour in a filling of custard, cocoanut, cream, lemon or apple, and bake as an ordinary pie.
While the filling is cooking the cereal will bake out dry and crisp, becoming firm enough to support the pie when it is taken from the pan. It forms a pastry as delicious as the lightest qualities of the latter. A meringue should be placed on top, instead of an upper crust.

Meat Jelly Sandwiches.
Cut the remnants of cold meat or poultry into small pieces or chop. Make a strong meat stock that will jelly when cold or use beef extract dissolved in hot water and dissolved gelatine to thicken. Three level table-spoonfuls will thicken a quart of liquid. Pour the desired quantity over the meat, stir well and leave in a basin until beginning to form. Then, with a final stir, pour into a cold mold rinsed out with cold water. Of course the stock is seasoned well when made. When cold slice and use for filling. The sandwiches must be kept cold. Minced mushrooms may be added if their flavor is liked.

Pickled Eggs.
Boil fresh eggs one-half hour, then put into cold water. In the meantime have beets boiled until tender, remove skins, cut in dice form and covered with spiced vinegar. Shell the eggs and drop into the pickle jars. This is an ornamental pickle and considered very good.

Green Currant Pie.
Stew and mash a pint of rather green currants; sweeten abundantly; add a sprinkling of flour or a rolled cracker and bake with two crusts. Dust generously with powdered sugar.
