Roman Catholic Bishop Against Lawlessness

Prominent Prelate Pleads With People of Georgia To Take Firm Stand For Law And Order

RACE CHIEF VICTIMS OF MOB

Bishop Keily Quotes Henry Grady's Tribute to the Negro's Loyalty, Fidelity and Devotion.

Atlanta, Ga., June 17.—The Rt. Rev. Benjamin Keily, Roman Catholic bishop of Georgia, in an address to Southern survivors of the Civil War, urged his audience, which included also a number of students from the white college, to take a firm stand against lynching and mob rule. He quoted Henry W. Grady and Gen. Robert E. Lee, citing extracts which paid high tribute to the fidelity and law-abiding characteristics of the Negro. Referring to the dead soldiers of the Confederate army, Bishop Keily said:

"Standing here to-day by the graves of the men who died, I appeal to you to save the state for whose sake they died, from a worse enemy than reconstruction—the dreadful supremacy of mob rule. These men did not die in vain, for we are to-day enjoying the blessings of life, liberty, protection of our rights and property, and these blessings are menaced when law is weakened, and the unthinking mob rules.

"From his last resting place in old Virginia the voice of Robert E. Lee comes to us. I feel convinced that no one would countenance such outrages against law and order, but all will cheerfully submit to the administration of justice by the legal authorities, and I sincerely invoke the students to abstain from any violation of law and order on this and every occasion."

Whites Have Own Laws.

"Gen. Lee spoke these solemn words when the State was under a military despotism which knew little and cared less for the orderly conduct of affairs and dispensed with the State law, for the so-called law of the camp, and yet under these circumstances he advised submission to the legal authorities.

"We have to-day in Georgia our own laws made by our own representatives executed by courts in which sit our own Georgia judges. We have no excuse for lawlessness. It is well known that the victims of these lawless acts are for the most part Negroes.

Henry Grady's Tribute to Negro
"Listen, my countrymen and countrywomen, to the words of Georgia's eloquent son, Henry Grady:

"We remember with what fidelity for four years the Negro guarded our defenseless women and children whose husbands and fathers were fighting against his freedom. To his credit be it said that whenever he struck a blow for his own liberty he fought in open battle

Congressman Madden Defends Colored Race

Illinois Statesman Flays Southern Prejudice in Speech at Washington.

Washington, D. C., June 17.—In a recent debate in the House of Congress, Congressman Martin Madden of Illinois made a determined stand for the rights of Negroes, and in a debate with Congressman Clark of Florida drove some shots home. We reprint part of Mr. Madden's hot reply to Congressman Clark:

"No, I must refuse to yield at this time. He says they propose never to permit these men to vote. Well, I suppose that will be true if they have their way. But there are 10,000,000 of these people in America. They will rise in their might some day against those who are keeping them down. They have been loyal to the flag. They have fought in every battle that has been waged for the liberty of the nation. They have shed their blood upon every battlefield. They are law-abiding citizens. They are loyal to the country and to the constitution, and they are entitled to better consideration than they are receiving at the hands of men like my distinguished friend from Florida, and all who think and act as he does upon that question, because I believe that every human being, no matter what his creed or what his color, is entitled to his right to participate in the activities of this republic, if he be a citizen of the United States. Oh, you do not ask these men what the color of their skin is when you want them to fight for the flag. Oh, no. You only ask them what the color of their skin is when they want to exercise their right of franchise. You did not ask these men who went to Santiago, who led the charge at San Juan Hill what the color of their skin was when they won the victory for our flag there. You did not ask them what the color of their skin was when they fought with General Jackson at New Orleans. Oh, no. You did not ask them what the color of their skin was when they fought in the Revolution, and no one asked them what the color of their skin was when they fought for the preservation of the Union under which we now live in that degree of prosperity and happiness of which we are so proud."

when, at last, he raised his black and humble hands that shackles might be struck off, those hands were innocent of any wrong against his helpless charges, and worthy to be taken in loving grasp by every man who honors loyalty and devotion."

MAN GAVE HIS LIFE TO SAVE CHILDREN

Huntington, N. Y., June 17.—When the Memorial Day parade started in Main street the band frightened two horses which had been left unattended attached to a loaded lumber truck.

They started on a run toward children who formed part of the procession. Hughes Edwards, a Negro, ran after them and sprang for their bridles. Losing his hold he fell and both wheels of the wagon passed over his body. He died soon afterward in the Huntington hospital. Hewlett Johnson swung the horses into a side street before they reached the crowd.

LINCOLN INSTITUTE HAS COMMENCEMENT

Lincoln Institute, Jefferson City, Mo., June 17.—The commencement exercises of Lincoln Institute were held Wednesday evening and the baccalaureate address was delivered by Chas. E. Bently, Chicago's noted dental surgeon. He took for his topic the "Life of Paul Lawrence Dunbar."

PULLMAN EMPLOYEES CAN BUY PULLMAN STOCK

Chicago, Ill., June 17.—The Pullman company has announced that employees of the company, who have been in the service a year or more, will be allowed to purchase shares of Pullman stock on the installment plan at $155 per share, which is $10 less than current market quotations.

Employees who receive a salary of $500 or less per year may purchase one share, with an increase of one share for each $500 of salary. The stock is to be paid for at a rate of $4 per share each month. Dividends are payable to employees from date of purchase, but 4 per cent interest is required on deferred payments.

PHILADELPHIA BAPTISTS DEDICATE COSTLY CHURCH

Philadelphia, Pa., June 10.—The new Union Baptist church, corner Martin and Fitzwater streets, the Rev. Dr. W. G. Parks, pastor, has just terminated a three weeks' program of dedicatory exercises. The new edifice is built of granite and terra cotta in the English Gothic style, making it one of the finest churches in the city. It was erected at a cost of $130,000 and the interior is modern in every respect.

McVey, Jeanette and Wills are leaving for South America, which just about leaves Battling Jim Johnson in possession of the exclusive rights to Sam Langford.

Populace Honors the Nation's Flag

Thirty Thousand Omaha Citizens From All Classes March in Magnificent Patriotic Parade.

A SOUL STIRRING SPECTACLE

Thousands March With Waving Flags and Multitudes Through the Streets.

"The star-spangled banner, oh, long may it wave O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Surely this sentiment must have echoed and re-echoed in the heart of every citizen of Omaha as he participated either as a marcher in the parade or as a cheering flag-waving spectator of that magnificent and soul-stirring parade on Flag Day.

Weather Favorable.

The mandate had gone forth that the parade would move at 2:30 p. m., rain or shine. It is hardly a debatable question but that rain would have seriously interfered with the success of the day. During a deluge of rain at the close of one of the Ak-Sar-Ben parades two years ago, everybody broke ranks and ran for shelter with one notable exception. That was Desdunes' Band which stuck it out and played "How Dry I Am." This band would have marched, rain or shine. As to others, well—let us be grateful that the weather was most favorable. The day broke fair and beautiful and not a cloud fretted the sky until about time for the parade to start. An angry looking cloud came out of the northwest, a few drops of rain fell and then the sun smiled upon the assembled thousands as though it said:

"That cloud was only a merry jest to test your patriotic mettle."

Arrangements Perfect.

The skill with which the arrangements were perfected was manifested when at the appointed hour Major General Harries, chief marshal of the day, gave the signal to start, and himself afoot, headed the great patriotic procession.

It was a magnificent, soul-stirring spectacle as line after line, sixteen abreast to the number of 30,000 passed by to the music of the bands. There were nine divisions. The streets from curb to curb were filled with the marchers, all carrying the "Stars and Stripes." The sidewalks were thronged with spectators waving flags and cheering. Massed at convenient points along the line of march were the school children, mounting into the thousands waving flags and singing, as only children can sing, patriotic songs. As one looked down the street from some coign of vantage he saw that moving multitude it looked like a majestic river, richly colored, flowing peacefully between

C., $1,000.

For the equipment of Negro Normal schools in North Carolina, $109,430 was appropriated. For preparation of a study into the best methods of training teachers for rural schools; a study of the progress of the education of the Negro as developed at Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes, and a survey of higher education in Maryland, $50,000 was appropriated.

MOBILE MOB LEADERS ARRESTED AND FINED

Mobile, Ala.—Eleven white men were arrested on charges of rioting when a mob of about 500 surrounded the county jail in a disorganized and futile effort to lynch a Negro wanted for a crime committed at Toulminville. Governor Henderson ordered out the State troops under command of Colonel Maddox, and the city police force assisted Sheriff Holcombe and his deputies in dispersing the crowd.

Two of the white men were fined $50 and costs for having concealed weapons, and one a policeman was put in jail. Cases against others were continued.

The Sheriff was ordered by the governor to let no one in the jail and the militia was ordered to shoot anyone who attempted to break through the lines. Troops were left on guard at the jail, while others slept on their arms at the armory. The man wanted at Toulminville has not even been arrested.

EDITOR GRIFFIN DIES SUDDENLY

Kansas City, Kan., June 17.—It was quite a shock to the community when, on last Friday evening, the news reached the people that Mr. A. B. Griffin, editor of the Kansas Elevator, a negro Democratic publication, had suddenly died at his desk at 845 Minnesota avenue.

Mr. Griffin had not been feeling well for some time, but no one thought of his illness being of a serious nature.

TWENTY THOUSAND AFRICAN SOLDIERS KILLED AT VERDUN

Paris—The Germans have lost 300,000 men at Verdun, while the French losses have totaled not more than 120,000, Col. Feyler, Swiss military critic, estimates in a Geneva newspaper.

"The Germans must remember that they are the assailants and that they have lost 100,000 men a month without decisive results," continued Col. Feyler. "The French, on the other hand, have lost less than half as many men and are confident of success. Included in the French losses are 20,000 African troops.

"The crown prince used five new divisions in this week's fighting. They now have at least fifteen or sixteen army corps engaged, or a force of effectives of at least 800,000 men."

COLORED BOY DROWNS SAVING WHITE PLAYMATE

Crystal City, Mo., June 17.—Jesse Wyatt with several other boys, white and Colored, were bathing in Platten Creek. This creek runs through property owned by a foreigner who objected to the boys crossing his field. While they were swimming the farmer's wife got a revolver and fired point blank at the boys. They were so frightened that a white boy sank and cried for help. Jesse went to his rescue, and just after getting the boy out of deep water, he was swept into mid stream by the current and although a good swimmer was unable to stem the current and went down.

"Greater love hath no man than this."

COLORED MILL WORKERS BROUGHT FROM SOUTH

Cleveland, O., June 17.—Between 700 and 1,000 Colored laborers have been brought to Cleveland, Ohio, from the South to work in the mills, and agents are at work to secure more, who will arrive in a short time. The Colored men are regarded as more patient than white unionists as workers and are the rounding-up of the Southerners.

DEATH OF MISS BEULAH WASHINGTON

A telegram from Dowagiac, Mich., to her cousin, Mrs. Jenkins, of Burdette street, announced the death there last Sunday night of Miss Beulah Washington, the oldest and last surviving daughter of Charles H. Washington, formerly of Omaha. Miss Washington was born in Omaha and grew to womanhood here. She was a graduate of the Omaha high school and for a number of years was a member of the choir of the Church of St. Philip the Deacon. Some years ago the family removed to Sodus, Mich., and more recently to Dowagiac. Beulah was in the habit of returning to Omaha for the summer. She was a young woman of sweet disposition and beautiful Christian character. The sympathy of many Omaha friends will go out to Mr. Washington, who, in addition to the death of his daughter, was recently bereft of his wife.

GIVEN AUTO RIDE

A delightful auto ride was given James T. Lewis Tuesday, June 13, in honor of his graduation from the Eighth grade of the Long school by his brother, J. B. Lewis. The party included five of his classmates, Howard Allen, Theron Jefferson, Kenneth Moore, Wallace Thurman, Florence Murray, Herman Lewis, of the Eighth A class, and Henry Smith, of Central high school. After a two and a half hours' ride through the parks and boulevards the young people were landed at Terrell's Drug store where they were treated to ice cream sodas by the proprietor, Mr. Terrell.

WEDDING BELLS RING

Miss Mae Louise Willis was married to Mr. Austin Wilfred Serrant, of Chicago, Ill., at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Jasper E. Brown, 811 North Forty-fifth street, in the presence of a few friends. The wedding march was played by her young niece, Gladys Edrose Brown. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. G. F. Franklin, and was unattended. The Rev. John Albert Williams, vicar of the Church of St. Philip the Deacon, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Serrant left at half past eight o'clock over the Northwestern for Chicago, where they will reside at 3800 Rhodes avenue. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

REVISITS OMAHA AFTER SEVENTEEN YEARS

Mr. Jesse Newman, who for a number of years was a member of the police force in this city, but who has been a resident of Oakland, Cal., for the last seventeen years, was an Omaha visitor last Friday, en route home from Chicago. This was Mr. Newman's first visit to Omaha since going to California, and he said: "I am simply amazed at the growth of Omaha. I would hardly know the place. I can scarcely believe my eyes."

Mr. Newman is looking remarkably well. He regretted exceedingly that his brief stay in Omaha made it possible for him to see only a very few of his many friends.

FLAG DAY HELPS PATRIOTISM

What do you think of Omaha? Are you not proud of the fact that you are a citizen of this great growing metropolitan city, pulsating with patriotism and progressiveness? Don't you think it did us good to get out on Flag Day and look at ourselves as we, in our better selves, really are and want to be, a great big family with common sorrows, common joys, common faults and failings, common desires, common interests, common aims, aspirations and ideals?

This is what Flag Day taught us. Yes, but it taught us vastly more than this: It taught us that we are not only citizens of Omaha and of richly-dowered Nebraska, but of one of the greatest and most highly-favored nations on the earth.

As we witnessed that soul-inspiring spectacle and pageant of thousands of American flags, carried by men and women from all walks of life, mingling together as brethren, all race and class distinctions laid aside, we were moved to the very depths of our soul and we saw, as it were in a vision, what God intends America to be and what, please God, she will be, when His purposes concerning her are worked out: the ideal democracy.

We know not what was done elsewhere, but in Omaha on Flag Day the true spirit of Americanism was regnant.

We need such days and such observances to arouse us out of our indifference and selfishness.

Surely, whatever may be her faults, we ought all to love America, and as loyal Americans each do his duty in helping her attain and hold the exalted and honorable place among the nations of the earth which we believe to be her destiny.

We feel that we are a better American because of the observance of Flag Day, and can now sing with a new spirit and meaning:

"My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty;
Of thee I sing.

While it is true that many of us feel, and feel keenly, that for us she is not yet, in the truest and fullest sense, a "Sweet land of liberty," yet we have faith to believe that she will be and the dawn of that glorious day is not far away.

ARTHUR D. BRANDEIS

The death of Arthur D. Brandeis, head of the well-known firm of J. L. Brandeis and Sons, is, humanly speaking, a distinct loss to Omaha. Omaha is a great city and is destined to become a greater city. Her commercial greatness and prosperity owes a vast deal to the energy, brain, faith, far-sightedness, progressiveness and public-spiritedness of the Brandeis family, and especially to Arthur, whose unexpected and lamented death occurred in New York City last Saturday.

He was the moving spirit in building up not only the great Brandeis Stores, but other and allied interests that mean much for this growing city, and furnish employment to hundreds of men and women. Among these employes our own people have found representation. During Arthur Brandeis' active administration of the Brandeis stores, which he in part relinquished upon his removal to New York two or three years ago, he was quite insistent upon seeing that employment was given to a number of Colored men as janitors. His instructions to his manager were:

"Give self-respecting Colored men, who are taking care of their families and helping build up our city preference in positions of this character. They should be given all the encouragement possible."

Unfortunately, the new management has not been so considerate even along this line as was Arthur Brandeis, and none of these positions are now filled by our people. We hope that some day they may be restored and not only so but that places as salesmen, saleswomen and office employes may be given to competent members of our race. We are quite sure that this would be in keeping with the liberal-minded spirit of Mr. Brandeis.

As it is, there are some eight or ten employes, chiefly women in the main stores and a number of girls in the cafe and Pompeian room, which are under separate management.

The Brandeis Stores and interests have been so well organized that they will continue to grow and develop, as they richly deserve to do, but the genius of Arthur D. Brandeis will be sadly missed. In his brief life, he wrought well and has left many monuments of his useful career.

We congratulate our energetic business manager, Joseph LaCour, upon his graduation from Central High School where he has made an excellent record. The school publication, The Register, in speaking of him, says he is "one of the keenest and best informed boys in the school." This compliment is deserved. Mr. La Cour hopes to enter college in the fall. During the last year while attending school he has acted as business manager for The Monitor where his services have been invaluable.

In the list of pupils graduating from the grades and entering high school, which we published two weeks ago, the names of Mattie Childs from the Pacific and George Kellogg from Central Park were omitted. We will greatly appreciate it, if our attention is called to any others who may have been omitted, as we are anxious to have the list accurate and complete.

Jack Johnson has opened a dancing academy at Madrid, Spain, and has for one of his patrons King Alfonso. Nothing comes too high for Jack.—Exchange.

The Knights and Daughters of Tabor and Prince and Princess of Media Maids and pages of honor, International Order of Twelve will hold their annual thanksgiving service the third Sunday in June at Grove M. How Long Have You Paid Rent?

Will you now, while the prices are low and the terms are easy, let me put you on the road to save the money you have been squandering in rent? A bank roll is unnecessary; a little common sense is all required to own your home. Pay rent to yourself for a change. Compare the value of your rent receipts with that amount of equity in real estate. How much cash can you borrow on the rent receipts? None. Buy a home on payments; it's easy, just like paying rent. Our Women and Children

Conducted by Lucille Skaggs Edwards.

IS WOMAN LIMITED IN HER USEFULNESS ?

I do not believe that increased ability in this direction is limiting to woman's ability in any other direction, nor that it detracts from her public usefulness; every tributary swells the main current of her capacity and very power aids and strengthens her other powers. And I am convinced that every woman must faithfully perform the obligations if, in the jubilation of her release from the too-fettering housework of the past, she throws all home manufacture overboard like a troublesome Jonah.

And when I read an article that asks: "Could not the home turn out a greater product of happiness, usefulness, and children, if it did not have to make their clothes or prepare their food?" I want to answer "No!" as vigorously as possible. The business of being a successful mother, to use the modern phrases includes the material as well as the immaterial, includes the care of little bodies as well as little spirits, and those little bodies cannot be cared for by putting the preparation of their nourishment out of the home. Clothing may be taken for little figures that are not shop size, but children's food can never be bought ready made. For if freshly boiled eggs and freshly baked potatoes and fresh broiled chops and freshly baked custards are not more nutritious and wholesome for small folks than any bakery or delicatessen or factory versions of such things would be, then reason has fled the market place and common sense has given up the ghost!

Let us simplify, by all means; let us do away with the needless elaboration which is a foe to all neighborly living; let us do whatever has to be done in the deftest and easiest way possible to success, but do not let us try to theorize ourselves into the belief that the time will ever come when there will be nothing for us to do but "assemble the crude products of commerce." As long as the world goes round each revolution will bring afresh the ever new, the ever old, the big vital, commonplace, supremely important labor of taking care of the family and the efficiently managed home will ever be that where the wisest care of the body goes hand in hand with the deepest inspiration of the spirit.—Pictorial Review.

THE MOWER

I saw a neglected garden once where the weeds, flowers and grass seemed growing from the same stems and to the same unbroken level. Though full of growing things the effect was that of waste. Then the mower passed and when I looked again I saw a well-trimmed lawn with clumps of daffodil here, peonies there, a round bed of bluebells, a corner crowded with violets; the whole of surpassing beauty.

It is in such a way that our blessed Master forms our lives. They are ill-kept plots where selfish thought and foolish whims grow level with the good till there's no telling the false from the true. Then the great Mower comes—he cuts here, clips there, raises a little love tendril to stand prop, pulls the weeds from the corner, and behold! our lives are as beautiful gardens of smooth grass and blooming flowers.—Home and School.

THE MAN WHO QUILTS

The man who quits has a brain and hand

As good as the next; but he lacks the sand

That would make him stick with courage stout

To whatever he tackles and fight it out.

He starts with a rush and a solemn vow

That he'll soon be showing the others how;

Then something new strikes his roving eye,

And his task is left for the bye and bye.

It's up to each man what becomes of him;

He must find in himself the grit and vim

That bring success; he can get the skill,

If he brings to the task a steadfast will.

No man is beaten till he gives in;

Hard luck can't stand for a cheerful grin;

The man who fails needs a better excuse

Than the quitter's whining, "What's the use?"

For the man who just lets his chances slip,

Just because he's too lazy to keep his grip.

The man who sticks goes ahead with a shout,

While the man who quits joins the "down and out."

THE EXAMINATION AGAIN

Queen Elizabeth had no husbands and died a natural death.

The heart and lungs are situated in the borax.

Infantry is a place where they keep infants.

A vampire is a man that settles base ball games.

An island is a lot of water with some land in the center of it.

A glossary is a place where they polish things.

Ink is obtained from the Red and Black seas.

A fort is a place where soldiers stay; a fortress is a place where soldiers' wives stay, and a fortitude is a place where they both stay.

FREE TRIP CONTEST DRAWS NEAR CLOSE

The free trip contest given by the Negro Women's Christian Association for the benefit of the Old Folks' Home will close July 10th. A free trip to Denver, Kansas City or Chicago will be given to the girl having the largest number of votes. The votes are ten cents each. This is one of the biggest and keenest contests ever staged by the Colored people of Omaha. Every contestant from the leader to the lowest is anxious for the trip.

Why shouldn't the girls work hard to win the trip when Omaha people are doing everything to make the trip worth while in the manner of gifts?—Adv.

BY WILLIAM G. HAYNES.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN ELECTRIC LAMP

A Budapest engineer, Mr. Karl von Dreger, after three years of experiment, has perfected an electric lamp which operates without a battery, the power being obtained by the transformation of muscular action into electric energy. The pocket lamp, which corresponds in size and lighting power to the ordinary battery lamps, obtains its power from the thumb of the hand which carries it. The thumb moves a small projecting lever along the sector of a circle with a moderate expenditure of strength. A spring draws the lever swiftly back to the original position. By corresponding rapid pressure on the lever, and utilizing a ratchet, a spring is stretched or "wound up" and this, by the interpolation of a few cog wheels, drives with an approximately regular number of revolutions, a small magnet with a permanent magnet as a new. Usually the lever is worked continuously, as long as it is desired to have the light burn, but Mr. von Dreger has succeeded in storing up so much energy in the spring that the lamp will continue to burn for several minutes after the lever motion has ceased.

The lamp is manufactured in another form intended to be carried (Traglampo). Here the power is obtained by pressing together two handles attached to the casing of the lamp. One of these is fixed and the other is movable and is operated by the whole hand instead of by the thumb alone. It gives a corresponding larger amount of light. The same principle can be employed for other uses, i. e. to operate ignition dynamos for blasting.—Elek. Ztg.—Scientific American Supplement.

DERAILMENT BY WIND

The derailment of railway trains by wind is not an uncommon occurrence in case of light, narrow-gauge railways. Mr. R. H. Curtis, writing in Symon's Metrological Magazine, tells how this danger has been virtually eliminated on one such line; viz., a stretch of 36 miles along the Atlantic coast of Ireland, forming part of the West Clare Railway. Probably there is no other line in British Isles exposed to such violent gales, and during a few years prior to 1909 as many as five "blow-offs" occurred, in which the carriages were completely smashed though there was fortunately no loss of life. In that year Mr. Curtis devised for the railway a pressure-tube anemometer with electrical apparatus for giving warnings by ringing a bell in the station-master's house at Quilty; the first when the velocity of wind reached 65 miles an hour, the second when it reached 85 miles an hour. When the first warning is given, 2,400 pounds of movable ballast, kept for the purpose at every station, is placed on each vehicle of any train on the line at the first station it reaches. When the second signal is given, trains are stopped until the storm abates. Since the apparatus was installed, in December, 1909, there has been only one storm-derailment, and this was due to deliberate disregard of the signals.—Scientific American.

BINGA DISMOND EQUALS WORLD'S RECORD WITH EASE

Chicago, Ill., June 8.—Binga Dismond's quarter mile in 47 2-5 seconds at Evanston Saturday is still the talk of the athletic world, and has given impetus to the plans of having the great Maroon runner meet Ted Meredith, the national champion in a match race. Dismond's performance Saturday was truly a brilliant one. The great flier got away to a good start and jumped the field on the first turn, increasing his lead on the back stretch and breasted the tape an easy winner. Had he been pushed to the limit, a world's record would have been in the making.

Commenting in the Pittsburgh Gazette Times anent the great Dismond, Leslie W. Rowland, offers the following:

"The University of Chicago has a Negro runner of whom the staid old school is mighty proud. Binga Dismond, a good student, a gentleman, an athlete of extraordinary ability, has been carrying the Maroons to victory all season. And the students who frequent Marshall Field and the Midway forget Dismond's color and sing praises to his name, which is as it should be. The lad broke the conference quarter-mile record in the annual meet at Evanston Saturday and equaled Ted Meredith's world's record of 47 2-5 seconds in that event. Such men are more than a credit to their race; they are a credit to the white race. They are white inside."

COLORED YOUTH WINS ORATORICAL PRIZE

New York, June 17.—A young Colored student's oration on Brooker T. Washington the late educator, deadlocked the judges on the second prize, in the George Augustus Sandham oratorical contest of New York University's commencement exercises. As a result two second prizes were awarded, one to Lewis Davidson, '17, the colored contestant, and the other to William H. Draper, '16, the white contestant, who spoke for preparedness in his address, "A Plea for a Virile National Policy."

IOWA FEDERATION OF WOMAN'S CLUBS

Buxton, Iowa, June 17.—The Iowa Federation of Colored Woman's Clubs convened at Buxton, May 23 and 24. Monday evening the reception for visitors was held at the Colored Y. M. C. A. Tuesday morning the Federation entered into the business of the reorganization for the fifteenth annual session at St. John's A. M. E. Church, Mrs. Sue M. Brown, president, presiding. The reports of the clubs showed an increase during the year. Six new clubs were organized and were admitted to membership.

AID GIVEN COLORED SCHOOLS IN KENTUCKY

Frankfort, Ky., June 17.—V. O. Gilbert, superintendent of public instruction, has received $2,000 from the general board of education of New York with which to employ Colored rural school supervisors. The board also furnished $950 for county training schools for teachers. Such a school has been organized in Bourbon county and $350 will be donated to that school. About three hundred dollars will go toward the establishment of a training school in Nicholas county.

its banks to meet the waiting ocean. Is this figure far fetched?

Americanism Triumphant

In this parade all races and all classes of our polygenous people marched as Americans. Our own people were there in comison with all the rest, sprinkled through all the ranks, as individuals identified with the trades or labor or mercantile houses; with the high school cadets, in its band and in the several companies. Then, too, there were the detachments of our people, the women, under their own marshal and a large detachment of men under their marshal Mrs. W. T. Osborne was marshal for the women's division and Edward Turner for the men. The First Regimental band which led the third division, was as usual, one of the most popular bands in the parade.

Flag Day in Omaha found true Americanism triumphant.
