MASONIC GRAND MASTERS OF IOWA AND MISSOURI DENOUNCE THE KLAN

LIQUOR FLOWS FREELY RIGHT AT DOORS OF THE PRESIDENT

So It Is Intimated By Press Reports Which Tells Of "Gay" Party Staged By Officers

GOBS MAKE EXTREMELY GRAVE CHARGES

Made To Work Without Sleep Marines Let Loose A High Voltage Story About Their Superiors — Only One More Evidence Of How Prohibition Don't Work — No Doubt The Privates Will Be Punished For Spuealing.

Prohibitionists who have been kidding themselves into the belief that prohibition prohibits will be interested in reading that the personal bodyguard of President Coolidge got on one hell of a drunk at the very doorstep of our chief executive. Marines who were sent to Swanpocket to protect the president spent most of their time, so it appears in the company of fashionable young society girls who apparently like highballs as well as did the young officers. Certain Marines who had been accused of sleeping while on duty finally got sore because of the accusations made against them that they finally became determined to spueal on the higher-ups. A recent report from the summer Capitol says that gay midnight parties by fashionable young debutantes of the North Shore's exclusive society and marine officers of the guard sent there to protect President Coolidge during his stay at White Court are expected to lead to an investigation by marine headquarters at Washington. Charges of gay parties alleged to have been in the marine headquarters at Galloup's Point, near White Court, are ready to be preferred by guardsmen who have risen to the support of their two fellow privates found asleep on duty at midnight at the summer white house. One of the sleeping marines charges that he was kept on duty at White Court and the nearby marine camp for three days without rest. The

The New Dry Director Is In Favor Of Padlock

McCampbell Places Men Who Make, Buy Or Sell In Same Classification.

Padlock injunctions closing every place where liquor is manufactured or dispensed in violation of the prohibition laws will be the chief weapon of the new prohibition administration, Andrew McCampbell, prohibition administrator for Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota, announced shortly after his arrival in Omaha yesterday to take charge of his office. Mr. McCampbell reached Omaha shortly after 1 p. m., from St. Louis and went immediately to the federal building for a conference with Robert Samardick and District Attorney J. C. Kinsler. Although refusing to discuss the specific methods that he intended to follow in the enforcement of the Volstead act after he takes charge of this office on September 1, the new dry chief did not hesitate to state the general program that he would attempt to carry out. This included recourse to the drastic provisions of the padlock laws. "We intend to get the source of supply, and to stop it up," he said. "That means an intensive drive against the manufacturer and the distributor." "The padlock injunction against places that sell or manufacture liquor is one of the most effective weapons of prohibition enforcement, and we shall use it here," he said. "It has worked wonderfully well in New York, where we closed some of the biggest and most exclusive places in the city. The majority of property owners in the city will co-operate with us for law enforcement, but those that are countenancing violations by renting their property to bootleggers will have their eyes opened if their property is padlocked for a year. "We shall enforce the prohibition law without fear or favor."

ROY PAULSON DECLARES HE IS NOT A KU KLUX KLANER

Roy Paulson, 5829 North Twenty-ninth street, telephones The Mediator that he is not a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Last week this paper gave the numbers and owners of numerous cars that attended the recent Klan gatherings and took part in the doings. Included in this bunch of cars was the number of one, which, the records at the court house indicated, was owned by Paulson. That gentleman wants it known that he had disposed of the car at the time of the meeting. Apparently, the new owner was employing Klan methods in an attempt to use the Paulson number, although the law specially requires new owners of cars to take out a new license and get a new number. We regret that Mr. Paulson should have been into this fray in this manner. He is said to be a substantial business man, and is not anxious to lose any of his money on account of this outlaw organization. Other members will do well to take a tumble. From other sources there have been kicks and congratulations, which indicates the result the Mediator's expose has had. And, we will say, it is only started. There will be plenty to follow.

HUGH DELANEY, BUYER FOR COZAD STORE HERE DURING MARKET WEEK

Hugh Delaney, buyer for Anderson's Department store, Cozad, Nebraska, was an Omaha visitor Market week. Mr. Delaney bought quite heavily while in the city for his store in the western Nebraska town. Hugh was an old friend of the associate editor of the Mediator and took occasion to renew his acquaintance while here. He was for many years manager of the Notion department of the Brandeis stores.

EURICE MILLER NOT ON THE WRACK AS STATED LAST WEEK

Last week The Mediator in an article mentioned the name of Eurice Miller, a resident of North 33rd street. Upon investigation we find that the story was sent to the Mediator by a practical joker and that the whole thing is a myth. "Swinging a scythe eight hours a day," says a baseball writer, "is the best possible developer of pitching arms." It gives that rural free delivery.—Detroit News.

Wise and Otherwise

(By H. Eff Jay)
One of the newsboys selling the Mediator on the street last Saturday had been instructed on just what to "cry" to attract attention. The boy got the instructions all wrong and he was hollering his lungs out, saying "Read the Ku Klux Klan paper, The Mediator, The Klan paper, read all 'bout it. And everybody that heard him got a kick out of it.

With scores of oral, written and telephone communications concerning the doings of people received by a newspaper, the only wonder is that more errors do not creep into print than is found. Recently this paper published a little article about Mr. Phipps, the shoe rebuilder, which said some unkind things about him and his former wife in Iowa. The information seemed to be right at the time but we find on later investigation that nothing could be further from the truth. As a matter of fact Mr. Phipps has been divorced for more than six years from the wife of whom we spoke. Has been remarried for nearly five years as has the lady we mentioned. It does the soul good to make just amend and we are glad to give this more space than we did to the original story which we have since learned had no foundation in fact.

A fashion note in a daily paper says that Ertle, the Paris authority on women's styles decrees that red crepe de chine underwear to be ultra chic and that women must wear that kind to be in style. That might go in Paris but not in Omaha. The girls here can't be bothered with any kind or color. The Paris beauties are to wear bright red sex, the local flappers will probably follow the french ladies in this adventure.

A negro told a Klansman that no Kluxer could hope to get to heaven. Asked why, he said, "In de first place boss, the Kluxer would meet a colored man acting as outer guard. How could he get past him? Suppose he did, he would meet de inner guard who is a Irish catholic. Eben 'spose he finally got past de Irishman. Dat wouldn't do him no good. He couldn't get past Jesus Christ, cause you know he was a jew.

Henry Ford has taken a sudden interest in dancing. Well it would make him more of a benefactor to the human race than ever if he would do something to standardize the steps.—New York Sun.

BIG BUSINESS MEN GETTING SICK OF PROHIBITION AS NOW ADMINISTERED

Some Captains Of Industry Too Cowardly To Admit That Volstead Enforcement Act Has Defeated The Very Ends It Hoped To Attain — Some Big Men Who Once Helped Anti-Saloon League Now Denounce It.

A drinker when in Europe, but thinking so much of the Constitution that he lives up to the Eighteenth Amendment when at home, a young New Yorker recently challenged The Manufacturers' Record to question the prominent business men, professional and educators whose views favoring Prohibition were set forth in the Baltimore periodical three years ago, and discover if they had not changed their minds since then. In his letter to the editor, he said: "I have noticed during the past several months an increasingly large number of voices in the public prints telling of the failure of Prohibition. I know no one among my friends here in New York who feels the same way toward the Eighteenth Amendment as I do, and it seems to me that, in other parts of the country there is becoming more and more a decided disregard of Prohibition." He does not believe "that all the men who were asked three years ago for an expression of opinion were liars and hypocrites," but he called for "another survey of these same business executives asking them if they still believe the Eighteenth Amendment to be worth while; whether or not they believe the good accomplished among the poorer classes has been outweighed by the heavy drinking on the part of the well-to-do classes and the disregard of the low among all classes."

The captains of industry who originally made prohibition possible, while they have learned to their sorrow that the Eighteenth Amendment with the Volstead Enforcement clause has been a decided failure, they are still too cowardly to come out and admit the error of their ways. However there are many men high in the financial and social world, who after a thorough survey have come to the conclusion that prohibition is not prohibiting. The Ohio State Journal, a very conservative newspaper in a very conservative state declares that "we don't know what the sentiment on the question of prohibition would be by such men as Judge E. H. Gary if General Andrews should ever succeed in fixing things so that the captains of industry couldn't get anything to drink for themselves or their friends. Captain W. H. Strayton, national chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in speaking of the business men who still claim to be in favor of the Volstead Act and the Eighteenth Amendment as it is now administered declares that there is not an open-minded business man in the whole lot, and it is not to be expected that they would admit prejudice and recant at this particular time. He added that they are the type that three years ago looked at a tree and declared it to be red-to-day it is still red to them. Captain Strayton criticized in particular what he called an attempt of the survey to represent labor as being highly satisfied with Prohibition. He termed as "grossly unfair" the effort to get labor's views on the question by going to employers instead of working-men themselves. "If The Manufacturer's Record wanted labor's views, why didn't it go to the laborers?" he asked. (Continued on Page 2)

O'Grady Putting Out Liquor Two For Shilling

Famous Bootlegger Giving Out Poison Hootch At Real Bargain Prices.

O'Grady's place, at Sixteenth and Nicholas streets, has become headquarters in fact for the two-for fellows, who are looking for a little real poison. O'Grady now sells it two for a quarter and, although there is plenty of poison in his liquor, there is apparently a good demand. In fact business has gotten so good that O'Grady has rented a near-by cottage for a storehouse. This cottage is just across Nicholas street from his place and has a new pair of steps leading up to it. Mrs. O'Grady runs across to the cottage frequently, unlocks the doors and gets a "fresh one" O'Grady is not very popular with his neighbors. Many of them worry, who are out with their hammer. O'Grady has been a bootlegger a long time. He recently did ninety days Sheriff Endres for his bootlegging business and it is predicted that Bob Samardick may give him another run for his money in the near future, because Mr. McCampbell is not going to overlook any bets. He has been passing it out to anybody and everybody just so long as they had two shillings to lay down.

JUDGE WOODROUGH SPENDS VACATION AT MANUAL TOIL

Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough is spending his 1925 vacation assisting in the construction of a garage he is having built on property which he owns at Twenty-fourth street and Poppleton avenue.

Attired in well-known, wrinkled overalls, the judge has been superintending the construction and leading a helping hand whenever needed by the laborers on the job. He begins work every morning as soon as he gets finished with the routine work of his office as judge of the district court. This requires about thirty minutes of his time daily because court affairs are lagging at present awaiting the opening of the September term of the court.

"It's the best way I know of to spend a vacation," Judge Woodrough stated, "I sometimes spend my vacation fishing, hunting or traveling and golfing. This is the first one I have had for three years, and I am enjoying it better than any I've ever had."

OUTLAW ORGANIZATION TRIES TO HIDE UNDER MASONIC CLOAK

Kleagles or Salesmen Who Solicit Members Try To Play Upon Lodge To Help Their Game

KLUXERS TRYING FOR GRIP ON POLITICS

Hooded Organization Peeved At Action Of Mediator In Printing Names — Many Give Excuses For Their Cars Being Parked At Meeting Place—Nebraska Masons And All Good Americans Expected To Follow Lead Of Iowa Soon.

Ku Klux business has been on the decline recently. This organization of blood and thunder, which declares it is "100 per cent American," has been having its troubles. Since the names were published in The Mediator there has been a continuous and persistent effort made to stop the publicity the Ku Klux Klan has been getting. One particular instance came to the notice of the publishers. A car number was printed last week as being one of those at the grounds on the night of the big convale. The owner, who says his name is Toy, said the car belonged to his son, who had rented it to some people who visited the place. He admitted that he was not a member, and that his car had got into bad company. Other similar complaints have come to the office of this paper. Toy, who is the way is a brother of Tom Toy, one of the live boys at the court house. This week there has come to the editors desk an expose of the Ku Klux and its methods. It puts the stamp of righteousness on the Masonic order by showing that that organization has taken decided steps to clear its skirts of any responsibility for the Ku Klux Klan or even aiding it by its quietness. The Nebraska Masons appear to be a little slow in their activity, but the Iowa and Missouri jurisdictions of the Masonic order has been very plain and to the point. "Whereas, it has become known to your grand master that a certain 'Ku Klux Klan' has been and is now organized within this jurisdiction an alleged 'secret and invisible empire', and, "Whereas, it is reported that its organizers and agents have stated and intimidated to members of our craft that the said 'Ku Klux Klan' is in effect an adjunct of Free-masonry and in accord with its principles and purposes; and, "Whereas, Any such statement of intimidation is absolutely false and untrue, in that Masonry can not and does not approve of or ally itself with any organization or movement, secret (Continued on page 3)

PITTSBURGH ALMOST SURE TO COP THE PENNENT IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

Beautiful Fights Being Staged In Both Major Circuits — Fans Dont Seem To Care Whether Athletics Or Senators Win — Cincinnati Will Hardly Be Able To Land Second Place As Giants Are Going Pretty Good Just Now.

Now everybody; all together; Rah, Rah, Rah for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Its all over but the shouting, barring some unforeseen set back that no one is looking, much less hoping for, unless it be the New York Giants. They have a practical cinch to cop the gonfolan this year and 104 million red blooded Americans are praying that they do. The other 6 million who call the You, Ess Aye home, live in Gowanans and are naturally hopeful that Omaha Grantham, Cuyler, Barnhart and a few other deep sea robbers from Pittsburgh fall down and break their necks before the season is much further advanced in order to give the McGrawites a chance at the flag. Unless the plucky Bostonians put a crimp in the Pittsburgh club Thursday and the Giants start on a consistent winning streak immediately there is little danger of the Western Pennsylvania club losing out. This is at it should be. Fans throughout the country are sick and tired of seeing the New York teams hogging all the glory simply because they have the mazuma to buy up the best available talent. That is the reason baseball followers are happy in the thought that the Yankees are getting the trimming of their lives. Also that they are watching with great interest the see-saw fight between Philadelphia and Washington both of whom are great favorites in this neck of the woods. Out here in the glorious west where they develop a heap of good material for the majors fans are about evenly divided in their support of the Senators and Mackmen. We say go to it and let the best team win. It is going to mean ever so much to baseball to have either the Athletics or Washington to cop the famous rag in the junior major league organization and Pittsburgh do likewise in the senior circuit. Such an event would take the baseball lime-

LEGION HOSTS TO BE ENTERTAINED IN LAVISH MANNER DURING CONVENTION

One Hundred Thousand Expected Here And All Will Be Taken Care Of In Splendid Manner — Homes To Be Thrown Open To Visitors—A Riot Of Fun Due The Boys—To Be The Biggest Affair Of Its Kind In History.

When Bringham Young and a thousand of his Mormons crossed the Missouri river and built their winter quarters on the north end of what is now Omaha, down where today stands an eighteen story office building, was a lone Indian tepee. Just where now stands the Municipal Auditorium, in which the sessions of the convention will be held, there was an old log cabin. Five years after the Mormons crossed the river, an old fellow, who had been operating a ferry boat across the stream, decided that maybe in a hundred years or so the land might be worth a few dollars an acre, took time off between trips of his hand ferry and staked out a homestead of 160 acres right where Omaha is now situated. That was in 1853.

But the land was still Indian property and it was not until another year, in 1854, that the Omaha Indians signed a contract with the government ceding their lands for white settlement. That was the beginning of Omaha, where the Legionnaires will hold their next convention. Years before the Mormons, French fur-traders opened a post just south of Omaha. That post still exists. And not only years, but even centuries before the mormans, generations before Plymouth and Jamestown and New Amsterdam were thought of, white men, Spaniards from Mexico came to the Platte Valley, seeking a fortune in yellow gold instead of in the yellow corn which every year adds more wealth to the world than all the gold mines of the entire country. Bull team, steamboat, stage coach, pony express, railroad, airplane, allegorically tell the story of Omaha. Six months from Omaha to San Francisco by bull team. Three weeks by stage coach. Ten days by pony express. Two days by railroad. A few hours by airplane. All have been vital to Omaha and each has added to the city. Combined, they and the things for which they stood, have made of Omaha a city that can, and will, show the American Legion the very best time it ever had in its life. That single log cabin which stood here when Bringham Young and his Mormons came, has grown into so many fine homes that 40,000 to 50,000 Legionnaires will be entertained therein when the convention meets. After the hotels are filled with 25,000 Legion men, and Pullman city takes care of another 25,000, and 5,000 are billeted at Fort Omaha, and 10,000 are housed in other places of this kind, Omaha citizens are stepping in and are to care for all the remainder. No Legionnaire is to be without a bed at the Omaha convention. Omaha has outfitted three great "treks"—in addition to being the center of the great flood of homeseekers which swept over the trans-Missouri country from the close of the Civil War to the present. First came the '49ers, headed for California, Then "Pike's Peak or Bust". Next the Black Hills. And when the Legionnaires come to Omaha in October, they can go down to the great gold smelter, with a daily output more valuable than that of any smelter in all the world, and can see a stream of molten yellow gold as big as John L. Sullivan's arm pouring from the retort into molds. For forty years Omaha was the center of activity in the Indian wars. From the '50s down to Wounded Knee in 1890, Omaha was the post from which the soldiers started to fight the Indians. Today there are two active army posts at Omaha—Fort Omaha, within the city limits and Fort Crook, a few miles down the river on the city trolley lines. Both will be open to Legionnaires. Following the bull teams, the Stage coaches and the pony express riders, came the iron horse and it was from (Continued on Page 3)

EQUALITY FOR ALL THE DEBTORS

The collection of debts is not a pleasant job for a nation. But at least the terms of the Belgium settlement seems fair and generous and as easy as any terms could be. The terms are fair because they recognize the moral obligation entered into by the President of the United States at the Peace conference. They are generous because they remit outright at least $200,000,000 of interest. Thus Belgium will pay the United States government much less for the money she borrowed than the United States government must pay the people from whom it borrowed the money. Finally, the burden of the debt to Belgium is trifling, for the most that she has to pay any year is about $12,000,000. That, even for Belgium, is a very small amount.

The sums involved are indeed so small that the whole transaction has almost no financial importance. It will affect American taxes hardly at all, Belgian taxes very little, and international exchange only slightly. The importance of the settlement is political and moral because of its effect on the impending French and Italian settlements. Undoubtedly Belgium was sent on ahead in the hope that the strong sentimental claims of Belgium induce President Coolidge to accept principles which could then be used by the French and Italians to their own advantage.

But the American commissioners have changed nothing in principle. Although they have cut the cost of the prearmistice debt to Belgium more than 50 per cent, they have done so for a reason that the other debtors cannot use. Belgium was promised special treatment by Wilson. Lloyd George and Clemenceau, and the American commissioners recognize the promise by insisting that it is unique.

This was a wise decision on their part. It removes all reasonable basis for objection to the settlement in Belgium. At the same time we are spared the inevitable misunderstanding which would be bound to follow any favoritism shown to one ally as against another. In principle the Belgians are to pay on the same terms as the British.

It is to be hoped that the Administration will adhere firmly to the principle of equity and abandon any idea of settling the unfunded debts on some such principle as "capacity to pay."

We owe it to those nations which have already funded their debts to settle on the same terms with the other debtors, or to revise their terms to meet any advantages we may feel forced to grant in the future.

YOKALS HANDLE CITY MORALS

General Andrews of the treasury department having been given the job of enforcing prohibition throughout the country has appointed twenty-four administrators to take over the new districts, September 1 and scofflaws everywhere in the United States, Hawaii and elsewhere under the flag are to be given a new reason for shaking a leg and stepping high and wide.

Some time ago President Coolidge said that his conception of federal and state duties in enforcement was that the federal enforcers should concern themselves with the source of supply and the states should take action against distribution and use. The plans of Gen. Andrews do not indicate that this division of responsibility is to be made. He is responsible. He tried to get some high speed business men to neglect their profits and serve the government at $1 a year. They did not come forth. He got four new ex-army men to take districts, but most of the men in the new scheme are men who were in the old one.

One feature the new re-adjustment bring out is that enforcement officials in large part has been recruited from the farms and villages. In other words the yokals have been brought to the various cities to regulate the big town morals. This does not apply to Omaha but does go for most of the big cities of the country. In Chicago they have an old moss back preacher from Hillsborough Ohio. The Chicago Tribune tritely says:

The Chicago district retains the Rev. B. E. Ewing of Hillsboro, O. The Rev. Mr. Ewing has been acting here since Percy Owens, chief for the district, was indicted on charges of conspiring with bootleggers to get the stuff in use instead of keeping the customers from it. One of Gen. Andrews' reasons for hunting for the $1 a year man who was worth half a million to himself in his own business was to procure chiefs to whom the $60,000 they could get from the trade would not look better than the $6,000 they could get from the government.

The Rev. Mr. Ewing of Hillsboro, O., will have a district including Chicago and Milwaukee, among other cities. As the story of Hillsboro and its sister village Westerville was told in Saturday's Tribune it was an interesting account of endeavor in the dry cause. These two villages have been rivals in the production of consuls for the government of the wet provinces. Hillsboro is in southern Ohio and Westerville in central, and they have been after the demon rum at home and abroad since shortly after the civil war.

Hillsboro may claim to be the home of the Woman's Christian Temperance union and Westerville of the Anti-Saloon league. Westerville gave Roy Asa Haynes to the national regulation of personal habit. The villages have furnished the enforcement forces with numerous recruits who thought the regulation of city habits would be more ambitious work than trying to run village picture shows, drug stores, liveries, garages or working on the village constabulary.

It took Westerville and Hillsboro some time to put the idea that large cities should be run as villages wanted them run, but the Rev. Mr. Ewing is now in Chicago to demonstrate that the doctrine finally is established as an American principle. The cities will take a properly regulated Hillsboro picnic as their standard of decorous life unbending from serious thought and work.

BIG BUSINESS MEN GETTING SICK OF PROHIBITION AS NOW ADMINISTERED

did it go to capitalists?" "E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation and one of those listed among the supporters of Prohibition, has said that he favors Prohibition because it promotes the ability and disposition of his men to work. That is what the manufacturer wants—more work. But is he interested in the man's happiness?" "Captain Stayton declared there was a growing feeling among laboring men that whether or not they wanted their beer it was their belief that their employers had loaded their cellers and thus were fortified against the beverage drought. He said he believed this sort of feeling to be far more dangerous than Prohibition."

It is found that numerous large employers of labor have changed their mind on the prohibition question during the past three years. Many of these men were enthusiastic about the Eighteenth Amendment at the time it was adopted. The intervening years has been so rife with bootleggers and results of the bootlegging that they have come to the conclusion that a light wine and beer program would be much better for the public than prohibition as it is not carried out today.

Among prominent business men of America who are bitterly opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment are such notably successful men as R. L. Agassiz, president of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company; Eldridge R. Johnson, president of the Victor Talking Machine Company; E. R. Crawford, president of the McKeesport Tin Plate Company; William B. Culler, president of the National Tube Company (United States Steel Corporation); J. T. Dorrance, president of the Campbell's Soup Company; George A. Fuller, president of the Fuller Construction Company; D. C. Jackling, president of the Butte and Superior Mining Company; William H. Todd, president of the Todd Dry Dock Construction Corporation; Philip T. Dodge, president of the International Paper Company; James M. Buick, president of the American Car and Foundry Company; General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and Edward G. Acheson, president of the Acheson Corporation, and many other enterprises.

THE International Truck is an interesting example of most advanced construction. The "Steer-Easy" steering gear, for instance, affords the easiest kind of handling enabling the driver to sit comfortably as in a passenger car, and loses not an inch of leading space. Rear auxiliary springs, of exclusive International design, come into action when needed and assure correct spring flexibility.

International removable cylinder design eliminates the reboring of cylinders and replacing of cylinder blocks.

The entire power plant is a marvel of accessibility, making oiling and adjustments the easiest kind of job.

The crankshaft in every Heavy Duty International is guaranteed against breakage for life and the crankshaft ball bearings are guaranteed never to break, wear out or burn out.

And so on, from effective cooling system to efficient final drive, International construction reveals the experience of twenty years of truck manufacture, and does justice to the Harvester reputation extending over almost a century.

The International line includes a Speed Truck for 2000-pound loads; Heavy Duty Trucks ranging from 3500 to 10,000 pounds, maximum capacities; and Motor Coachettes for all requirements

LIQUOR FLOWS FREELY RIGHT AT DOORS OF THE PRESIDENT

(Continued from Page 1) an investigation by Washington of the entire outfit here. Summary court-martial has been directed for the two marines charged with having gone to sleep while on guard duty at the summer white house. The trial probably will take place within a few days aboard the presidential yacht Mayflower at Marblehead, where the two are under arrest. Captain Adolphus Andrews, naval officer in command of the Mayflower and also the commanding officer of the marine detachment in Swampscott and his subordinate officers declined to discuss the charges against the marines which were preferred by Lieutenant J. E. Wright, naval officer who made an inspection at White Court during the absence from Swampscott of Lieutenant Edgar Allen Poe of the marines. The court which will try the two men have authority, if they are found guilty to fix a maximum penalty of dishonorable discharge. All of which goes to show just how ineffective is the Eighteenth Amendment, as the whole rumpus was started over a "gay" party according to press reports, which could hardly mean anything else than a party made gay by wild women and liquor. People generally seem to think that as usual the officers will get a clean bill, while the over worked, underpaid marines will get it in the neck.

MASONIC GRAND MASTERS OF MISSOURI AND IOWA BITTERLY DENOUNCE KU KLUX KLAN

(Continued from page 1) or public, that proposes to subvert or supersede the processes of orderly representative government of the people; nor one that appeals to bigotry and endeavors to foster hatred of any nationality, class, religious faith or sect, as much. The Solemn Charge "Therefore, I, Amos N. Albersen, grand master of Masons in Iowa, do solemnly charge each and all of the regular Masons in Iowa, now as heretofore when you were made a Mason, that in the state you are to be a quiet and peaceable subject, true to your government and just to your country; you are not to countenance disloyalty or rebellion, but patiently submit to legal authority, and conform with cheerfulness to the government of the country in which you live."

Gites Masonic Obligation "Furthermore, I charge each and all, that as our fathers have framed the truly Masonic principles of liberty and conscience, equality before the law, and fraternity among men into the constitutions of this nation and state, we as Free Masons and citizens of this republic are obligated to perform our full moral and civic duty, to promote and enforce an orderly administration of justice and equity, acting openly that it may be known of all men." Grand Master Albersen further orders and directs "that this latter to the craft he read aloud at the next meeting, whether regular or special, of each lodge throughout this jurisdiction; that it shall be of record, and due notice of the same circulated among the brethren, that it may come to the knowledge of all Masons in Iowa."

Missouri's Action On Klan William F. Johnson, grand master of the Carterlin Grand Lodge of Missouri Ancient Free and Accepted Masons made this statement at the annual meeting of the grand lodge, which indorsed it: "As the impression seems to prevail in some sections, that the Masonic fraternity is directly or indirectly associated with or furthering this secret organization (Ku Klux Klan), and as I have been asked on numerous occasions what relation, if any, our fraternity bears to such secret society or order, it is well that the seal of disapproval be positively placed by this grand lodge upon this secret organization, which assumes to itself the right and authority to administer law and punish crimes. "Nothing is more destructive of free government than secret control. The arraying of race against race, color against color, sect against sect is destructive of peace and harmony, which in the great end we, as Free Masons, have in view. We profess, and boast that we are true to our government and just to our country.

Is Subversive Of The Republic "We can not, as Free Masons and good citizens, recognize the right of any secret society or combination of men to assume unto themselves the right to administer law and to inflict punishment upon their fellow-men. Such an assumption is subversive of our republican institutions, contrary to the great principles of Free Masonry." "An organization that practices censorship of private conduct behind the midnight anonymity of mask and robe, and enforces its secret decrees with the weapons of whips and tar and feathers must ultimately merit and receive the condemnation of those who believe in courts, open justice and good citizenship."

LEGION HOSTS TO BE ENTER-TAINED IN LAVISH MANNER

(Continued from Page 1) Omaha that the first trans-continental railroad was built. On a cold day in December, 1863, a little troupe of men gathered around a spot down on the "botoms" and turned the first shovel of earth on the Union Pacific Railroad, just chartered by Congress. Two years were required to fully organize the company and the first rails were laid in 1865. The following a pace in railroad building never equalled in all the world. The building of every mile was under army guard to keep off Indians. Buffalo herds were entertained in feeding the men. Materials were brought to Omaha by boat. Locomotives even were brought in the same way. But today the railroad built under those circumstances stands as the premiere road of the United States. The Legionnaires who are coming to Omaha in October, will be interested in some of the facts about Omaha. Here are some of them. "Omaha is nearer that any other large city to the center of the United States." "Omaha is the fourth railroad center, with 63,000 miles radiating from her." "Omaha is the midway point on the transcontinental air mail route and general headquarters of the air mail service." "Omaha has 200 restaurants serving 70,000 people daily." "There is one automobile to every six and a fraction people here." "Omaha has over 500 wholesale houses." "Omaha is the third largest fur market west of the Mississippi." "Omaha has more than 500 factories with an output of more than $1,000,000 daily." "Omaha is the third packing center." "Omaha manufactures more butter than any city in the world." "Omaha is the second largest livestock center of the country." "Omaha is the largest primary grain market in the world." "Omaha has the best horse race track in the west." "Omaha has more public parks, per capita, than any city in the country." "Omaha is third largest user of electric lights, per capita, with cheapest electric current in the country." "Omaha has thirty-seven passenger trains, each way to Chicago, every day." "Omaha welcomes the Legionnaires."

FAIRBANKS' LEADING LADY IS SEVENTEEN

Mary Astor, a petite, wistful little lass of seventeen, has reached the pinnacle of fame sought by thousands of young girls who annually clamor at the gates of Hollywood.

At an age when most girls still are in high school, Miss Astor was chosen by Douglas Fairbanks as his leading lady for "Don Q, Son of Zorro," his latest United Artists Corporation photodrama, now showing at the Strand theatre.

"The conferring of this high honor on a miss so young by a star as great as Doug has not changed the unaffected Mary in the least," said Donald Crisp, director of this picture. "She is the same unassuming, likable girl as when she was a dramatic student in her home town, Quincy, Ill."

According to her own story, Miss Astor owes her present good fortune to hard work plus sacrifice—a sacrifice made not by her alone, but by her mother as well. They have not forgotten the dreary months they scurried and saved and struggled to provide Mary with the necessary training for the work she had chosen.

"I can hardly believe it is true, now," the girl confesses referring to her prosperity. "Why, when mother and I get our pay check we think it is Christmas."

"I don't think we will ever forget the struggle that made these pay days possible, nor cease to be grateful for the things that we denied ourselves so long—things we really needed, too."

Mary was born in Quincy, and went to grammar school there. Later she attended a school for girls in Chicago and at the age of fourteen went to New York for her first screen work.

In the midst of her preparations for a screen career her father, a professor of German in the public schools when the war came, lost his position because of anti-German sentiment. That, however, did not deter Mary and her mother. In fact, it spurred them to greater efforts, and eventually Mary was rewarded by a part in "The Beggar Maid," a Tri-Arts production. This led to more important roles, among them an excellent part in Richard Barthelme's "The Bright Shawl" and the lead in "Enticement," a Thomas H. Ince Corporation production.

Mary Astor is interested in the things every healthy, normal girl of seventeen likes. She is adept at riding and tennis, and is a good swimmer. She is a pianist and singer as well.

She has all the enthusiasm of youth for her work, and is elated at having been chosen as leading lady for the popular Fairbanks.

"I am looking forward with the keenest interest to this great opportunity," Mary declared. "I hope my characterization of Dolores will satisfy the public and thus justify the faith of Mr. Fairbanks. It was a great experience to work with such an artist."

Miss Astor says all this in a way that leaves no doubt as to her sincerity.

ORPHEUM ATTRACTIONS

The Orpheum Theatre begins its new season next Sunday afternoon. Everything is in readiness for the opening. The theatre has been thoroughly renovated and painters have been working day and night for the past two weeks.

The ten piece orchestra which proved popular last season under direction of Leo Kaufman, a former Omaha boy, has been re-organized and promises the same high grade selections as in the past season.

Clara Kimball Young, internationally famous screen star will be the headline attraction. This sterling actress is featured in an amusing little sketch called "His Adorable Wife," written especially for her by Tom Barry, author of "Dawin" and "The Reckoning" and numerous vaudeville sketches.

Another feature of the opening bill will be the appearance of Al Herman, blackface funster, who was for three years the principal comedian of Greenwich Village Follies. Al has a standing army mobilized to give battle to grief and remorse wherever and whenever the enemy maybe encountered.

Del Chain and Lou Archer, just back from a season in London, where they were featured at the Princess Cabaret, offer a choice bit of comedy and song. Their duet singing, accompanying themselves on novel string instruments, is one of the high spots of their act. Mr. Chain is a popular vaudeville entertainer and his partner is well known in musical comedy as well as in the two-day.

Jack Redmond, as nearly every one knows, (for nearly every one plays golf nowadays) is one of the best known golf champions. The old adage "a shoemaker should stick to his last" has been knocked into the cocked hat, so to speak.

Probably a more spectacular or more difficult routine of hand balancing, somersaulting and other forms of ground and lofty tumbling has never been accomplished than that of the Pasquoli Brothers, athletes of international renown.

Marie Walsh and Frank Ellis have a bright, breezy and thoroughly enjoyable skit in which they endeavor to demonstrate "Wha Youth and Experience Have Produced." Theirs is a frolic of patter and song. Both have been featured in musical comedies.

Alfred Latell is one of the most famous animal impersonators that the stage has ever known. In his present vehicle he is seen in a fantasy called "Bronzo" the character dog, taken from the New York American magazine resign of this famous dog character. Mr. Latell has appeared in such productions as "The Wizard of Oz," "Peter Pan" and "Babes in Toyland." He was also featured in Ziegfeld's Follies and Cohar's Reviews.

There will be the regular picture program including the popular Aesop's Fables, Pathe-News and Topics of the Day.

Miss Sylvia Roleska will be in charge of the box office again this year.

Will Seek Parole For Eva King Bandit Queen

Woman Convicted Following Bluffs Gun Battle In Reformatory 13 Months.

Petitions are expected to be circulated this week for the parole of Mrs. Eva King, "midget bandit queen," to her mother, Mrs. Ida Miller, Oakland, Cal., from the Iowa State Reformatory for Women, Rockwell City, Ia., where she has served thirteen months of a twenty-five-year sentence for second degree murder.

J. F. Overbay, 1213 South Sixteenth street, Omaha, is in charge of the petition. Mrs. King's case is to be presented to the pardon board at Des Moines during September by J. J. Hess, Council Bluffs attorney.

The woman was arrested following a gun battle with federal, state and roads officers October 5, 1921, and alleged box car thieves on the Lena Schneider farm north of Council Bluffs. Her husband and Robert Muray, railroad detective, were killed in the fight.

Mrs. King was sentenced to serve twenty-five years in the reformatory on March 6, 1922, following her conviction on a charge of second degree murder in connection with the gun battle.

For two years following sentence, she tried vainly through appeals to escape the terms, but the case ended June 24, 1924, when the state supreme court rejected her appeal. She was out under 5 thousand dollars pending the outcome of her appeal. Mrs. King began her sentence in July, 1924.

The woman was alleged to have feigned illness and to have slipped a gun to her husband when he came to her side. King is said to have killed the officer, and was himself slain a few seconds later.

Four of the remaining gangsters were convicted and sentenced to long terms in prison where one of them subsequently died.

"We believe that Mrs. King was innocent, and we are also willing to help her on account of the illness of her mother," Mrs. Overbay said.

PROWLER GETS AWAY WITH VALUABLE DIAMOND

A prowler that knew his stuff did a second story stunt Thursday night and got away with a $3,000 rock, the property of Miss Bertha May Bradford. The diamond may have been worth a few cents less than its reported value. At that the porch climber made a good haul and his nights work was not in vain. Egan so he will probably be in the toils of the police within a few hours after which his work will have counted for naught.

"IT PAYS TO LOOK WELL," SLOGAN OF BARBER ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

To raise the standards of barbering, and to impress upon the public that "it pays to look well," the Associated Master Barbers of America will conduct an extensive national and local campaign of advertising, Chesley B. Hypes, first vice-president of the association, announced in Omaha Thursday. He was here to address the National United Master Barbers' association at the Castle last night.

"We will have a national advertising department, a research bureau, legal department, and a code of ethics to be observed by all master barbers," said Mr. Hypes.

"Like surgeons and physicians have excluded the 'quack' doctor, we intend to so raise the standards and educational requirements of barbering that only well trained, skilled and efficient operatives will be able to cater to the public. This will even extend to the manicurist in the barber shop, and to the man who shines your shoes. Schools will be established throughout the country to train instructions and operatives."

Mr. Hypes expressed the opinion that barbering prices never will be lower than now.

"Cost of operation are too high," he said. "Like the doctor, the barber of today is giving much finer service than in days gone."

When women began coming into barber shops for hair bobs, right then and there began a change that has been the greatest single influence in raising barbering standards in the history of the profession, Mr. Hypes asserted.

Bobbed hair, said Mr. Hypes has come to stay. "Women," he said, "have become a part of the daily trade. Go into a barber shop today, and you will find an atmosphere entirely different. Lurid literature on the reading table is giving way to high class periodicals."

Mr. Hypes lives in Topeka, Kansas, where he operates three shops.

Barthelme Wins Novelist's Praise

Joseph Hergesheimer Pays Unusual Tribute To Star In "Shore Leave."

Joseph Hergesheimer, the famous novelist, has just paid an unusual tribute to Richard Barthelme, whose newest First National production, "Shore Leave," comes to the Rialto Theatre Saturday.

"Richard Barthelme," says the writer, "has a mind of his own and he uses it, not only in connection with his acting for the screen, but on all occasions. This is more important than at first it sounds, for Richard's mental attitude is, as it must be, reflected in his features and attitude. If he seems, under the camera, alert and masculine, it is because these qualities are the essence of his character."

"Naturally there is more than that to be accounted for; they do practically nothing toward explaining what, I suppose, should be called his art. That word, art, I have never, during years of familiar association, heard him use. Indeed, it is a fault of Richards to appear to underestimate the value of what, without any effort and thought on his part, he is. He is apt to depend too little on his innate and very vivid personality."

"For the ordinary man to be so handsome would be a calamity; but, braced by the tonic of his excellent common sense, and in the one profession where masculine good looks may be a positive benefit, Richard manages to make all but the most infatuated ladies almost forget his unreasonable appearance."

"I began by speaking of his mentality. He has very largely formed it first by the need to think for himself, since his progress has at times led him through places singularly innocent of thought. And, second, from the fact that his mind is nicely skeptical. In addition to all this, he is made of a material capable of infinite improvements."

New Highway Is Proposed

Hard Surface Road Between Omaha And Joplin Expected To Become Reality Soon.

Word comes from Kansas City that a movement has been started for the establishment and building of an all surfaced road between Omaha and Joplin, Missouri. This proposed highway is surely a needed one, and should have the support of the government as well as the various states and cities that are most directly interested.

At a meeting just held in Kansas City resolutions were adopted declaring the Omaha-Joplin route to be important as an interstate highway, worthy of designation as a United States highway for the following reasons:

It passes through four first-class cities in the eastern border of Kansas, which are not served, by any other United States Highway.

It passes through Leavenworth, Kas., where is located the most important military post in the central part of the United States.

The route is 386 miles long.

The route is twenty miles shorter between Kansas City and Joplin than other highway.

It will serve a rural and city population of more than 250 thousand persons.

Perhaps so many Americans are dining in Paris just to rub it in on the former kaiser.—Cleveland Times.
