

COMMISSIONER JOBS ARE AGAIN POPULAR

Given Chance to Again Put City on Normal Basis

SOME PROBABLE WINNERS SLATED

Dahlman, Hummel, Dunn, Noyes, Zimman and Koutsky Mentioned as Leaders in Race of Outs for Places on Ticket— Others Making Big Fight

Sixty-three men and two women make a big political slate. That is the number that will be on the big slate Omaha people will have to choose from next Tuesday, when the primary to select fourteen men for candidates at the city election a month later occurs.

The voters of Omaha have an opportunity every three years to decide what seven men or women shall boss the city for the next term, and they are now looking over this galaxy of sixty-five to decide who they want for the next three years.

The race has been a pretty lively one, and the people will have a chance to decide between a bunch of fake reformers and men who may be depended upon to see that the city is run in the sane manner that characterized our municipality previous to the coming of the present administration or whether we are to have another three years of "rule or ruin." In this connection, the lines are pretty well drawn between the good and the bad. We have had a real taste of what it means to run a city "by guess and by God." That is what the people have experienced the last three years and it is pretty generally conceded that they have had enough of it.

The majority of the present city commission represents a limited number of political renegades who have been pleased to term themselves the "Committee of 5,000." Instead of this committee numbering 5,000, it numbers about half a dozen persons who are interesting themselves in the promotion of their personal welfare, without any particular regard to whether the people themselves have a look-in at the manner in which the city is run.

As opposed to this "political accident" is a coterie of gentlemen seeking nomination and election on whom the great hosts of Omaha voters are depending to get the city back somewhere near normal during the next three years. This bunch of men is composed of such citizens as James C. Dahlman, Joe Hummel, Dean Noyes, Henry W. Dunn, present police magistrate; Joseph Koutsky, John S. Hopkins and others. James C. Wharton, former postmaster, is another well known Omahan in the race.

Independent candidates are in the running strong, among them being Charles W. Pipkin, head of the Pipkin Detective Agency; Walter S. Jardine, former city commissioner; Al Kugel, also former city commissioner, and a host of others. Leo Beveridge, a youngster in politics, is also out making a strong bid for votes. Beveridge denies that he in any manner is connected with the "Committee of 5,000" crowd, although he is receptive to any and all votes that may come to him. He has a pretty strong following in some quarters. Beveridge is a graduate of Creighton, and has recently been in newspaper work. He has also taken the Creighton law course.

Labor will have three strong candidates in T. P. Reynolds, Charles Pipkin and Henry Wulf, all of whom are

A WORTHY SLATE

Those who are still in doubt, should make analysis of the list given below. Voters may vote for not more than seven candidates at the primary next Tuesday. Among the good ones, the following list shows a large number that will make good without a doubt. Look them over:

- James C. Dahlman
- Joseph B. Hummel
- Henry W. Dunn
- Dean Noyes
- John S. Hopkins
- Dan B. Butler
- Charles W. Pipkin
- Henry F. Wulf
- T. P. Reynolds
- Joseph Koutsky
- W. S. Jardine
- M. J. Sullivan
- John C. Wharton
- Thomas Hoctor
- Leo Beveridge

CHARLES W. PIPKIN

Charles W. Pipkin, head of the Pipkin detective agency, is making some strong strides for a place on the city commission ticket. Pipkin is admittedly a man of big strength in this race and his friends believe he will poll a very large vote. He is backed by numerous organizations of voters who seek good government.

WHARTON AND HOPKINS BOOMED FOR PLACES

John Hopkins and John C. Wharton, both candidates for city commissioner, were among those who are coming to the front fast as the city campaign progressed. Both are admittedly strong candidates and those in a position to know express the belief that they will be easy winners. Wharton was formerly postmaster of Omaha and Hopkins is a leading attorney. It is said the soldier vote will be very strong for Hopkins, who has several strong strings to pull. Wharton is a republican and Hopkins a democrat. It is believed both will poll big votes and land within the column of the lucky fourteen chosen at the coming primary.

MIKE FISH SAYS CORN WILL GO 60 GALLONS

Mike Fish, well known hay and grain dealer of North Sixteenth street, has been prognosticating on the coming crops, a matter on which he is considered an eminent authority. Mike looks for a retarded growth of hay this year but says there will not be so many horses to eat it as there was before the auto truck began to take such a big part in the hauling business.

Corn, however, he thinks will keep up with the standard acreage and he thinks the yield will be at least sixty gallons to the acre. He says corn yields, in these modern times, are measured by the gallon and not by the bushel because of the extensive demand for that cereal by hooch manufacturers who are in the market for large quantities of the raw material.

Doings In Omaha Fifty Years Ago

Many of our city officials were worrying about whom the people would select as commissioners for our village. George Yager said they all had a worry coming.

Tony Hoffman, the village cutup, was one of the busy boys and had a lot of the town kids on his working staff. Tony had a great eye for business.

Hugh Murphy had one or two days of intense neuralgia. Hugh dreamed he was putting concrete on the Dodge street hill.

Many silly questions were being asked about Dean Tancock, who had recently taken up a new pastorate in California. Tancock was not worrying at last reports.

Charles Pipkin was talking about character assassins. For a green country boy, Pipkin was a very live wire in his time.

Lawrence Dwyer called on Jim Dahlman and other friends in the federal building during the week. His calls were purely professional (Society item).

Billy Hart gave up his Benson farm for a city residence. Bill said there was such a thing as getting too much of any old thing.

Mrs. Willis decided that there was only one source of real information and sent her subscription to The Mediator. Dr. Muldoon was also made happy in the same way.

Amos Abley's new Fielder's Choice was out. Amos was a great joker in his time.

Billy Fox called down town to learn what was necessary and was told to get to work p. d. q. Bill knew how to take orders (sometimes).

Jim Bles organized his Greek community for the coming election. It kept him mighty busy, too.

Harry S. Payne was a candidate for city commissioner. He was in the race early, prepared to stay until the votes were all counted.

A Word to the Wise

With the coming city primary every Omaha voter, male and female, has a very solemn duty to perform. That primary will select fourteen Omahans to make the race a month hence for the office of city commissioner and seven are to be chosen at that time.

Three years ago our city was in a most prosperous condition, so far as it could be, with a world war hanging over us. Most of our young men, all of them voters, were battling for their country's existence and could not participate in the city election, as usual. The result was that several men were put in charge of our city government who have made a mighty botch of the job. It is needless to recite the result. Everybody in Omaha knows what has happened.

It is the duty of Omaha voters to help get the city back to normal, before it is too late. Next Tuesday men should be voted for who can be depended on to run the city like it should be run. That means that an end of the regime of Dean Ringer, Roy Towl, Bill Ure and Tom Falconer should be brought about in a business-like manner. Mayor Smith will not be a candidate.

It will be necessary to put an end to the present condition, once and for all time. Half a dozen men have collected a slush fund to renominate and re-elect the men responsible for the present undesirable condition. The combination is sponsored by a few persons who pretend to stand for "reform." As a matter of fact, most of our best people have come to learn that they have anything but reform in their hearts. They are interested only in perpetuating themselves in places where they can collect tribute from our taxpayers and other good people. For that reason, this newspaper suggests that, after thorough observation, it feels not one of the four mentioned persons should be retained in office.

The wise voter will see to it that other good men on the ticket are given preference next Tuesday and that the city hall is ridded once and for all time of the malcontents that have well nigh wrecked the city's standing in the country.

CANDIDATES REFUSE 5000 ENDORSEMENTS

Once Strong Political Combine Now In Bad With Political Leaders

DOPE BOSS HAS BIG PULL SOMEWHERE

Thomas-Wead-Callfas Combine on Last Legs and Very Few Candidates Take it Seriously—Even Churches Feel Conditions Brought on by These Leaders

One of the interesting matters in connection with the present city campaign is the fact that the so-called "Committee of 5,000" has found it almost impossible to get seven Omaha citizens who are willing to accept an endorsement of that body as candidates for city commissioner. Out of the present seven commissioners, only three have consented to become proteges of the Wead-Thomas combination, and even these three have done so with considerable reluctance.

Three years ago, when most of the young voters of the city were in France or other parts of the world trying to save our country, the Wead-Thomas combination managed to "get away with something." The men they put in city offices have proved abject failures and the people have long since awakened to the fact that they have been duped.

Now, with the coming primary next Tuesday, the voters will have an opportunity to rebuke this combination and turn Omaha back into hands that will make life worth living in our metropolitan and cosmopolitan city. There can be no doubt that new reforms, properly worked out and properly enforced, are always good things. But the present city administration has been lacking in its work of doing the very things its members promised when they were elected three years ago. For that reason, it has been found desirable to weed out the bunch and replace them with men of experience, who know how to handle the business of the city and make it worth while to live in.

One of the biggest failures of the "Committee of 5,000" has been the hardships to which our city churches have been victims. Omaha has a fine collection of big, healthy churches of all denominations. They have all found hard sledding the last three years, despite the fact that we had in power an institution that called itself "reformers."

What is true of these big churches is true also of other big interests in Omaha. For instance, we experienced a miserable lack of efficiency eighteen months ago when our fine court house was practically wrecked by a mob, simply because of inefficiency of the police system inaugurated by Dean Ringer, selected by this "Committee of 5,000" to run the police affairs of the city. Our mayor all but lost his life at that time.

There has been organized a ring of "dope" peddlers within a block of Twenty-fourth and Lake streets, which has been permitted to exist for more than two years practically without molestation. It is operated by a colored man with an Omaha history. He is protected by another colored man who calls himself a lawyer. He is a miserable failure as an attorney, but has managed to get into the combination that has administered some of our police affairs. Although there have been repeated charges of "protection" and grafting in connection with this "dope" ring, nothing has ever been done by our present police head to clear up the affair.

There have been many rumblings from this North End about the manner in which this "dope joint," run under the assumed name of "soft drink parlor," has been cutting up capers. It is admittedly headquarters for a big ring of "dopesters" and conservative estimates are that not less than $100,000 worth of "dope" has been handled through this place during the last year. Even the respectable colored people have frowned upon the place recently, but no serious changes are expected until matters are cleared up after the next election.

Taken altogether, these conditions are chargeable directly to the crowd fostered by the "Committee of 5,000" with a dozen members. It is for these reasons, it is said, that few respectable persons were willing to take a chance on being endorsed by this crowd. For that reason, out of the sixty-five persons who have filed their

THIRTY QUARTS OF ACTUAL BEER IS PROPOSED AS MONTHLY ALLOWANCE

Supreme Court Says Medicinal Beer Does Not Violate Volstead Act and Bars Thrown Down—Doctors Will Replace Hooch Peddlers—Everybody Happy

One case, containing thirty quarts of real beer, every month. That is the message that comes to the thirsty populace of the country, and which is expected to take the edge off the Volstead act, which so suddenly replaced the great national institution known as the saloon, with the bootlegger and his questionable brands of "hooch."

The proposition to relieve the thirst of the country results from a supreme court ruling that makes it possible for sick people to secure a reasonable amount of intoxicating liquor for nourishment purposes. On top of this ruling comes the announcement from the general federal revenue office that a case of thirty quarts will be sufficient to relieve our "sick" people for any single month. The construction to be placed on this ruling, so it is given out, will be to the effect that whole families will not be required to exist on thirty quarts, but that each member of the family may have that much, in the event of them getting sick.

It will require considerable work to get the new business into good working order, and it is not believed breweries will again be putting out any of the amber fluid for a month or two at least. Local brewers have not made any great preparations to resume operation, but Gottlieb Storz says he will begin the brewing of beer as soon as the government lets down the bars.

The announcement given out from government headquarters is very indefinite, but it is stated that plenty of safeguards will be put on the distribution of the "medicine" to be brewed for sick people. Although such announcement has not been made, it is believed that physicians' prescriptions will be necessary to secure consignments of what was once a very popular beverage. The average doctor admittedly does not want to get into the saloon business and some of them already are looking askance at the proposition of undertaking to say just when people are sick enough to require a case of beer to aid them in restoring their health.

It is pretty generally believed, however, that the necessity for "hooch" joints will be minimized by the new ruling. It is said the new national administration at Washington is willing to put a liberal construction on the court's decision and that much of the grief heretofore experienced in the handling of medicinal beverages will be done away with. Incidentally, the government tax will be similar to that placed on other proprietary medicines, it is stated.

PINKETT-RINGER-JACKSON-MOORE COMBINE WORKS OVERTIME AGAIN

North End Colored Boss and Penitentiary Bird Whom He Has for Pal Doing Campaign Stunts for Ringer— George Parker's Paper is Victim

George Wells Parker, colored newspaper editor and an influential writer for papers championing the cause of the colored race, has recently started a new newspaper which he calls "The Omaha Whip." George undertook the editorship of the New Era under somewhat difficult circumstances. He was working, according to report, for H. J. Pinkett, colored, who is an attorney at law, according to his own admission. Parker says Pinkett paid all the print bills and attempted to dictate what Parker put in the paper. That put an end to the business, according to Parker, and the New Era went out of existence. Then Parker started The Whip.

Incidentally, it is said that Ole Jackson, who has a soft drink place in the neighborhood of Twenty-fourth and Lake streets, also had an interest in what went into the New Era. Ole has a business of his own that keeps him pretty busy. He is credited with being a personal friend of Pinkett and Dean Ringer, our police superintendent.

It is said Pinkett and Jackson promised to deliver the "nigger vote" to Ringer for certain concessions, but Mr. Ringer has not confirmed the report. Meanwhile, Ole is getting away with about anything he wants, for which he ought to pay tribute if he does not.

The nature of the Pinkett-Jackson-Ringer combination has not been very fully aired thus far, but it is said some of the truth is beginning to come out. Ole Jackson started out some two years ago with a soft drink parlor in the colored neighborhood near Twenty-fifth and Lake streets. About the same time Johnny Moore, just returned from the penitentiary, where he had served a year for handling "dope," started business in the Third ward. Johnny Moore's joint was soon closed and he is now facing two charges similar to the one for which he served a term in the penitentiary.

Johnny Moore and Ole Jackson are co-workers and Jackson fronted for Moore on the latter's return from the penitentiary. It is said that "Attorney" Pinkett is now fronting for Jackson and Moore, both of whom are Dean Ringer's supporters. It is also said that the Ole Jackson place is being protected by somebody and that Jackson is able to get away with about anything he wants to sell. He is credited with being the ring-leader of about forty colored people in his end of town, but it is reliably stated that most of the decent colored gentry oppose the Jackson-Moore-Pinkett-Ringer combine.

From all indications, more is to be heard of this matter in the near future.

CHANGE OF FRONT AT ELEVENTH HOUR

An eleventh hour change of front in the municipal battle was reported from the city hall. It was stated that Harry Zimman and W. G. Ure had formed a combine, whereby they hoped to secure a combination that would be supported by the Daily News. In the event of success, it was stated that Ure would be the candidate for mayor.

The affair was said to be engineered by Ure, concurred in by Zimman and agreed to by other candidates. The Dahlman boosters did not give the matter very much concern, but there was evidence that steps were being taken to meet the new condition.

DAHLMAN AGAIN OUT IN FRONT

James C. Dahlman, former mayor of Omaha, is again a candidate for that office and Omaha voters will have an opportunity next Tuesday to decide what they think of him. In again casting his lot with the people Dahlman does so because he has been urged by thousands of good people to get into the race. At the same time they have pledged their support to him. He gives up a lucrative position to again serve the people of this city and he has given fair notice that his policy will not be changed one whit from what it always has been.

Thousands of men who have held high positions have been credited with getting rich off their office. That can not be said of Dahlman. He was mayor of the city for twelve years and was always true to his pledges. He left the office a much poorer man than when he entered. He returns, not to make his fortune but to again serve the people in an honest, sensible manner.

Experiences of three years without Mayor Dahlman have begun to show his real worth. When he comes back this time he will be appreciated because our people will know from actual experience what it means to be without a level head on the job directing municipal affairs.

Three years ago there was a vociferous denunciation of the mayor by a crowd of lunatics who temporarily got into the limelight in the absence of most of our voters, who were in the army. They are all back again now and those familiar with conditions believe Dahlman's majority will be a record breaking one, as it should be.

This newspaper commends its readers to the Dahlman standard. They can make no mistake by voting for him and those whom he expects to be associated with him. Dahlman can not be overlooked as one of Omaha's really representative citizens. He has a record of which any man might be proud to boast. He has never been a grafter, in the least sense of the word. Even his most bitter political enemies have never dared to make such a charge against him.

Next Tuesday Omaha voters will have an opportunity to again pledge their faith in Dahlman and those who are supporting him for the high office of mayor. They will do well to leave no stone unturned to see that Dahlman and such men as Joe Hummel, Dean Noyes and Henry W. Dunn are put into office at the city hall to replace the visionary minds that have held the fort there the last three years.

There will be much for Dahlman to do and undo when he returns to the mayor's office. But the big business interests of the city know that when he gets back matters will soon straighten themselves out again. The city will soon get back to its old time usefulness and the people will again know what it means to live again under a progressive government and to not fear that some upstart of an underling will upset the equanimity of the big business of which Omaha has so long boasted.

The Mediator again commends Dahlman to its readers and we trust there will be no lack of hearty support of him at the polls, both for the nomination and for the election.

AL KUGEL CANDIDATE

FOR CITY COMMISSION

Among the numerous candidates who have paid filing fees in the race for city commissioner is A. C. Kugel, former police commissioner, and at present working for Uncle Sam in his Omaha postoffice. Kugel says he does not have to work on a city job but that he is receptive. He also declares he is not spending much money, simply because he can not afford to do so. He indicated, however, that if nominated he will be prepared to make a race worth the while for a place on the commission.

Kugel says it would be an easy matter to spend enough to buy a winter's coal supply and still lose out and for that reason he is not going to make a fool of himself. Al admits that he appreciates the situation and intimates that he is ready for a real scrap in the event of being nominated.

Why You Sometimes Wait for the Operator

Each telephone operator answers the calls from a certain number of telephones.

It is just as impossible for your operator to serve you instantly during a rush of telephone calls as it is for you to be waited on immediately at a bank or store when several people are in line ahead of you.

An immediate answer to your call indicates that your operator is actually waiting for a call at the moment you signalled.

To answer your calls immediately, would require an operator exclusively for your line. Would you be willing to pay for that?

CANDIDATES REFUSE "5000" ENDORSEMENTS

The "Committee of 5,000" is headed by Fred D. Wead, Omaha realtor; Elmer Thomas, discarded attorney and formerly representative of the Anti-Saloon league, and Dr. Jennie Callias, at one time supreme physician of the Woodmen Circle, but thrown out of that organization for alleged incompetence.

This "Committee of 5,000" is now making its last stand, with the hope of retaining its position among respectable political organizations, but candidates apparently realize that day has past and few of them care a tinker's darn whether he or she has its endorsement.

Next Tuesday is expected to see the last of the efforts of that institution, composed of two men and one woman, to maintain itself in politics. It will soon become a derelict, not unlike the once famous Jacksonian club. It is also said that Elmer Thomas may be forced to go to work.

COMMISSIONER JOBS ARE AGAIN POPULAR

(Continued From First Page.) backed by the labor vote, union and non-union. Reynolds is a stereotyper on the Daily News and Wulf is now occupying a city job.

As a general proposition, it is believed most of the present incumbents will be renominated. Mayor Smith is not a candidate. Roy Towl and Tom Falconer, two of the present commissioners, however, have nothing to brag about and their defeat at the primary election next week would not surprise anybody. Dean Ringer, superintendent of police, is expected to muster enough votes to land in the select fourteen, but well informed political prognosticators expect him to poll every vote at the primary that he will be able to muster in the election a month later, which will insure his defeat for a second term.

As a general proposition, Ringer is considered an abject failure. He has been tried and found wanting and the people of Omaha realize that fact to a most certain extent. When he was made police superintendent he promised many things. What he has accomplished has been practically nil, so far as good things are concerned. He has fired off the force many of the old and experienced men. Some of them have proved themselves greatly benefited by this action. Among them are such men as Henry W. Dunn, former chief of police, but who has recently been selected by the people as police judge, and who is now a candidate for city commissioner. His election is practically certain and wise ones expect him to replace Ringer after the election next month.

Joe Hummel, defeated in the upheaval three years ago by only a comparatively few votes, is also expected to have easy sledding. Joe is of the sort that has been tried and found not wanting. His election is conceded. Altogether, it is believed the time has come for Omaha to get back to normal. The result will be seen in next Tuesday's election. The defeat for nomination of five of the present city commissioners would surprise none of the wise ones.

WHY NOT have your watch repaired right? Brodegaard Bros. will do this for you. They know how. Strictly union shop.—Adv.

RIES IS BACKED BY LABOR UNIONS HERE

Charles Ries, manager of the Ries-Hall Printing company, a candidate for nomination on the city commission ticket, is one of the men being backed by union labor. Ries was endorsed a week ago by a big meeting at Labor Temple and by other organizations. He is considered one of the strong men on the ticket and is garnering a lot of support for the place he seeks. If nominated, Ries has a fine chance of being elected.

DAN BUTLER IS NOT WORRIED ABOUT CHANCES

City Commissioner Dan E. Butler is one of the candidates for nomination on the city commissioner ticket who is not worrying about securing a place nor about his election after being nominated.

"These campaigns come periodically," said Commissioner Butler "I have tried to run my office in a commendatory manner, and have no apology to make. What I have tried to do particularly was to please the people and act in the capacity that any public servant ought to act. If I have been a failure, I will not win; if I have been a success they will nominate and elect me again."

Butler distributed something like 15,000 tons of municipal coal to the Omaha people last winter. That means that he came in personal touch with something like 5,000 families, each with no less than two votes. The thinking person and the fellow who can do a little figuring can easily tell how Butler is going to land. Like other live wires, Butler spends a few dollars where they will do most good and he is among those whose political advertising appears in this great religious weekly and family newspaper.

LA MARQUAND'S DEATH IS SHOCK TO OMAHA FRIENDS

The many friends of Paul La Marquand, who for several years was associated with the management of the Empress theater, were shocked this week to hear of his death in St. Paul whither he went after disposing of his theatrical interests in this city eighteen months ago. La Marquand was one of those splendid fellows who made a hit wherever he went. He was a member of several Omaha clubs, including the Omaha Athletic club. He never lost an opportunity to do a good turn for a friend. In the theatrical profession he was a decided favorite and made a success of the business.

BEVERIDGE SAYS WAS MISQUOTED IN REPORTS

Leo Beveridge, candidate for city commissioner, says he was misquoted as being tied up with the "Committee of 5,000" or any other similar organization. He is being supported and his candidacy pushed by the Onward Omaha Political association, which is non-partisan and non-sectarian. He says the organization aims to steer its course between the two extremes. He has been made standard bearer for the coming primary and invites anybody to investigate his fitness for the position he seeks.

EMRESS ATTRACTIONS

D. W. Griffith, producer of "Hearts of the World," "The Fall of Babylon" and other notable super-pictures, may be depended upon to provide something worth while regardless of what particular environment he enters to secure his dramatic material. Hence the announcement that his latest production, "The Mother and the Law," has been termed a dramatic thunderbolt will not be surprising to those who are familiar with the Griffith methods of powerful stories and stirring climaxes.

Playgoers will be interested to know that "The Mother and the Law" has been secured for a special showing locally and will be seen at the Empress theater for four days, starting Sunday.

Among the prominent players assembled by Mr. Griffith are Mae Marsh, Robert Harron, Miriam Cooper, Ralph Lewis, Walter Long, Vera Lewis, Alberta Lee, Margaret Marsh, Tod Rowning and others equally well known to patrons of the higher grade motion pictures.

ORPHEUM OFFERINGS

Under the new policy of offering eight acts instead of seven, as was the former custom, the Orpheum next week is to have William Seabury in "Frivolies" as the headline attraction. With croony tunes, with colorful settings and with attractive girl, this is an offering described as a musical rainbow. It was Mr. Seabury himself who conceived and staged the act, while the special music and lyrics were supplied by Billy Shaw and Buddy Cooper.

The one-act farce by Edmund Burke, "Summertime," will be one of the featured offerings, with Al Hinton appearing in the chief role. Of the two other featured acts one will be the amusing skit, "The Two Doctors," as presented by Kenney and Hollis. The author-comedian, J. C. Nugent, is also featured.

With Mr. Seabury in "Frivolies" are Joe Richman and six talented misses, including the Hope Sisters, Beth Cannon, Rose Stone, Betty Braun and Lillian Stone.

Five people appear in "Summertime." These players were chosen for their ability to portray such roles as that of the vampire, the ingenue and the serious folk who appear in this amusing sketch.

In the quarter of an hour that Kenney and Hollis are on the stage they offer a lot of humorous pranks. They are an extremely laughable pair of funsters.

As for Mr. Nugent, he made a name for himself in short dramatic sketches. But he has proven even more of a favorite as a monologist. Originality is one of the chief factors that have won for him wide publicity.

Jack McLallen skates on rollers. While he skates he keeps audiences amused with his particular brand of humor. He is effectively assisted by May Carson.

Sampson and Douglas are to appear in a skit called "The Life of the Party." Singing and comedy dialogue are the chief elements of their offering.

Dora Hilton is known as the girl with the golden voice. Her singing has the flexibility and clarity which audiences delight to hear. She is effectively assisted by Fred Ahl at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilde are expert shadowists. They make pictures with their hands on a screen. In this they achieve very entertaining results. They are assisted by their daughter, Connie Wilde.

Humorous paragraphs from the newspapers will appear on the screen under the title, "Topics of the Day." News events are to be pictured by Kinograms.

IF YOU WANT to be on time, have your watch regulated and adjusted by Brodegaard Bros. Co. A trial will convince you. Strictly union shop.—Adv.

GAYETY BURLESQUE

A carnival of beauty and a continuous chain of merriment put a gift edge touch to the offering of "The Girls from Happyland," Joe Hurtig's latest and greatest of all extravaganzas with their appearance at Omaha's popular Gayety for the week starting Saturday matinee, April 2. They will give evidence of the shortcomings of similar attractions, this production being identified as the most perfect of its kind, and, in fact, being nearer a spectacular musical aggregation than it is to the commonly termed burlesque attraction.

The decorative part in "The Girls from Happyland" bears witness to the skill of prominent scenic artists, and its unique and brilliant illumination emanates from the electrical department of one of New York's greatest mechanics. The costuming is of the very latest importation. The two burlettas offer something entirely new.

A number of clever vaudeville features are interspersed in the medley of mirth and music, thus making the whole an attraction well worth the place it has achieved in the foremost ranks of burlesque offerings.

The cast includes Four Dancing Demons, Senna & Webber, Jimmie Connors, Tom McKenna, Dolly Meden Al Watson, Violet Hilson and a first prize beauty chorus, with the trademark: "Fastest and better than the best laughing show." The new burlettas, "Nearly a Husband" and "The Wonder Springs" offer unusual advantages to the cast.

Ladies' dime matinee at 2:15 daily all week starting Monday. The Sunday matinee at 3:00 will be at pre-war prices.

That corns and bodily ease are incompatible is the most trite of truisms. That of the two bodily ease is the most to be desired, likewise needs no proving. Therefore, eliminate the corn. That you can do it by using CORNEASE
needs only a single trial to demonstrate the fact to the most skeptical. Try it and you will be convinced, because the corn will be gone.
Don't think that because various "Corn Cures" have not succeeded, CORNEASE will fail you also. If it does you get your money back. At druggists or by mail, 25 cents.
