

MOSTLY ABOUT OFFICE SEEKERS

G. O. P HAS MANY GOOD MEN ON THE TICKET

Others Not So Good Including R. B. Howell for Senator

HENRY BEAL MAY LEAD THE TICKET

Mike Clark Has Thousands of Staunch Friends Backing Him for Sheriff—Judge Sears Well Liked—Randall Will Probably Defeat Bryan—Race Hottest One in Years—The Men, Not Politics, Will Count Most.

(Editor's Note—In these columns we present our reasons for supporting or fighting certain candidates on the republican ticket. The G. O. P. has nominated several men that should be elected, others that should be defeated including the head of the ticket, R. B. Howell.)

FOR SENATOR—R. B. HOWELL

The republicans have as their standard bearer for United States Senator, Robert Beecher Howell, a man who we believe has a clean record so far as his personal character is concerned. He has been an asset to the city as head of the Water board and Public Utilities commission. Further than that he has little to recommend him as a man for the exalted position he aspires.

Should he go to the senate it would be a Nebraska indorsement of Harding's Ship Subsidy program also of the robber tariff that has been just recently enacted. He stands by and for the president's program which included the dirty slap at every ex-service man in the country who believe they are entitled to some consideration at the hands of the American public. If he is constant he would fight any future efforts that would be put forth by the American Legion and other peoples and organizations for a soldier bonus.

Howell would be a nonentity in the senate whereas his opponent stands high in that august body and through his long years as senator from this state is in position to make his influence for good felt. During the present campaign Mr. Howell has talked much of radio and such but has said little on the live issues of the day. If the people of this state would do themselves a favor they will keep R. Beecher Howell at home. Meanwhile Omaha voters would do well to reelect his as water commissioner as he has had broad and valuable experience along that line and it is experience that counts whether it be in a local position or in the United States Senate.

FOR CONGRESS—WILLIS G. SEARS

Willis G. Sears is carrying the republican banner as nominee for congress from the second district. He has been honored many times by the party of Lincoln, Grant and McKinley and has filled the positions to which he has been elected with honor and credit. He had been a fine and just judge and has just the right temperament and the matured age for such a place. Judge Sears is not a young man any more and would hardly be expected to put the vim into his work as congressman as will his opponent who is just in the prime of his life. If he is not elected it will not mean

WILLIAM CURRAN PROMISES RELIEF TO POOR FARM INMATES IF ELECTED

South Side Candidate for County Commissioner Should Be Elected—Adam Sloup a Popular Candidate—Kubat in the Race—Rotten Conditions at County Hospital Should at Once Be Remedied—Inmates Treated Worse Than Dogs.

County Commissioners should in fact be elected at another time than during a general election when the lime light for the most part is thrown in the opposite direction of them. So long as it is necessary to vote for them at this time a word in their behalf will not come amiss.

First, there is that staunch old democrat, Adam Sloup, who for more than fifty years has been a resident of Douglas county. He is a candidate for county commissioner. Adam came to Omaha in 1872, just fifty years ago, and has been in our midst since that time. When Mr. Sloup came to Omaha as a small boy, with his parents, hills, woods and Indians were the principal stock in trade of the village. Adam has grown up with the community and has been one of our respected citizens during all the intervening years. He helped make the clearing at Fourteenth and Williams for the modest home where the Sloups lived so many years. His many years' experience with Douglas county roads well qualify him for the place he is seeking.

Mr. Sloup's opponent is none other than Mr. Kubat, a Bohemian by birth, whose people in common with others of that nationality, done so much to settle Omaha and Nebraska in the early days. Mr. Kubat at the present is an assistant to county attorney Shotwell and has made good in that capacity. Whichever man is elected will be a credit to the city and county.

William J. (Bill) Curran is the candidate for commissioner from the south side district. We hope sincerely that he receives every vote from his district. Curran is one of the most upright men that has ever asked a constituency for their support at any election. The Great Engineer above endowed even the least of his children with a heart that pulsates in harmony with that which is good, and in the case of Mr. Curran seemed to have bestowed unto him more than mortal's ordinary share.

"Bill" Curran promises that if elected he will see to it that the poor unfortunate devils who through circumstances no fault of their own have been cast out upon the sea of public charity, shall not suffer overmuch because of their dire misfortune. Every man and woman in the county who believes that the Universal Master has an interest in even the least of us, should vote to make Mr. Curran one of our county commissioners. He, if elected, will change the policy of the County Poor Farm. He will not starve them like rats. Men and women of the South Side, if you believe that a man may be down but is never out, if you believe that Christianity is real if it is practically practiced, vote for Wm. J. Curran, for your county commissioner.

The Mediator has a message to the voters of the South Side that we sincerely hope they will read and ponder over until election time, then go to the poles and vote according to the dictates of their conscience. It is this: Men and women grow old, a self evident fact. As old age creeps upon them, some find that the fates have been unkind. It little matters to you what the circumstances that brought

WOTS' THIS? DAVE SHADE TO MEET MR. SCHOELL. LET'S HOPE

JAKE ISAACSON, AMERICAN LEGION PROMOTER, PROMISES FANS THIS DISH FOR TURKEY DAY

Hey! Lookit, you sports! See what's coming, maybe. Dave Shade, he of hit and duckit fame. If the dream book is okay then we are to have him as our guest, Turkey day. He is expected to meet the foxy Frankie Schoell of Buffalo, New Yawk. They have met twice and each time the eastern boy got the decision. He is a foxy bird with the mits is this Schoell and as a walloper, that's him all over, Mabel, and then some. The American Legion is arranging the affair. Cum' on Jake, tie 'em up, the fans are waitin' for a real scrap and if you give 'em anything different it's the curtain for you and every one else connected with the fight game in Omaha. And that's a fact, if you don't believe it get away from the inside crowd and mingle for a few minutes with the multitudes who slap down their jack to keep the ol' game going.

MIKE CLARK FOR SHERIFF

Mike Clark is running for sheriff because the people want him. That fact has been made patent to the least observing. Business men approve his past administration. The average citizen believes that Mike Clark was renominated because he deserved to be and they will vote for him because he has their full confidence.

He is not a silk stocking candidate. The door to Mike Clark's office is open to all and at all times. If you believe that one good turn deserves another you should place a cross in front of his name on election day

No less an authority than the famous old quarterback for Holy Cross and present St. Louis coach, Steve O'Rourke is authority for the statement that "The Nebraska University this season has the greatest football team in the history of American football." Steve claims that Nebraska could beat Harvard on a Thursday, Yale Friday and Centre on Saturday and Steve is about right at that. Watch them take the Oklahoma Sooners for a stack of college chips Saturday afternoon.

READ RECORD OF BAUMAN AND URE AS CITIZENS AND OFFICIALS

Bauman Has Made Good All His Life and Is the Man to Serve as County Treasurer—Ure's Official Record is Very Murky—Tried to Serve Two Masters

OTTO J. BAUMAN

Otto J. Bauman stands out as the one man running for an important political office who should be elected for the two principal reasons that he is an exceptionally well qualified man for the place and that his opponent, William Ure, is not only unqualified but is unfit for any office, public or private.

Mr. Bauman during the past six years has been chief deputy to the present treasurer, Michael Endres, and during that time has become thoroughly familiar with all the intricate workings of this very complicated and overburdened office.

The present democratic nominee for county treasurer is an Omaha product. He was born, raised and educated here. He was graduated from the Omaha high school back in 1890 and during all his years here has lived a life beyond reproach and made a name for himself among his thousands of friends, neighbors and acquaintances in this city and county of which he and his friends are justly proud.

As every one knows the office to which Mr. Bauman aspires is one largely of money and figures. Mr. Bauman has had a wide experience in both, not only as chief deputy but through a banking experience covering more than seven years. He was also in the real estate business for several years and made good from the start.

This is the first time that Otto Bauman has come before the electorate asking their support for an elective office.

WILLIAM G. URE

It would make mighty interesting reading to the voters of Douglas county and especially to his church friends to have Bill Ure tell them just how he "put over" the nomination for Treasurer in 1911 when he ran against I. L. Beisel. Quite a few people around town already know all about it and it would be well for the rest of the voters to acquaint themselves with the circumstances before November 7th.

Bill has been able to get away with most anything thus far but his political days are numbered. Watch the returns election night and see the awakening of the voters.

A great many people would like to have sanctimonious Bill Ure let them in on the secret of just how he was able to serve as Treasurer during the last year of his term of office and still devote most of his time to the winding up of the affairs of the wholesale end of the Brodegaard Jewelry Company, and for which he was paid a cold $10,000 for time that belonged to the taxpayers of the County.

The voters should know that this same nondescript used his private secretary and stenographer in the work at Brodegaard's. This young woman was paid for services to the county, but Bill used her in his private capacity while the taxpayers were digging down in their jeans to pay her salary.

Ure cancelled his own taxes just before he went out of office and thus saved himself a substantial bit of money. We wonder if he will get a

Doings in Omaha Fifty Years Ago

Politicians of all sorts and complexions were monopolizing the front pages but half of them were to be wiped off the political map on election day.

Billie Fox had handed in his resignation at the Fifth Methodist church sometimes known as Baseball headquarters. Bill had figured on rigging out a ship and become his own pilot.

Bill Little had been to the dentist getting his food choppers in shape for Thanksgiving. Bill had eaten Turkey on the big Gobbler holiday ever since that time he "won" a big bird (and gave it back) at the old Pastime theatre.

The government had been knocking over some of the wise guys again. 'Twas a crule government that would not let the boys alone just when they were getting a good start.

The Fruit store on Farnam Strasse between Thirteenth and Fourteenth had opened up again. Whether they had been confining themselves to fruits or were adding to the bank role from the juice of some of the rotted stuff was not definitely known.

Everybody that wanted to be a good fellow and wanted to see a good fellow elected had made up their mind to vote for Ed Howell for State Senator. Same way with "Doc" Tanner.

Louis C. Nash had been presented a $2,000 diamond ring by the employees of the Burgess-Nash store. Nash was a regular fellow and had full confidence of his many employees.

WHO THEY ARE, WHY THEY SEEK SUPPORT

This Column Devoted to the Democratic Candidates

HITCHCOCK SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED

Second District Seems to Be Strongly in Favor of Sending James J. Hanley to Congress—M. L. Endres in Hot Race with Mike Clark—Democrats Seem to Think It Their Year

(Editor's Note: Being absolutely independent in politics the Mediator presents very brief stories concerning most of the leading candidates. There are a few men on both tickets that no man or woman can conscientiously vote for and this paper does not hesitate to point them out in this issue, while others are entitled to the full confidence of the public.)

For Senator—Gilbert M. Hitchcock

Politics aside, Gilbert M. Hitchcock is the logical man to represent Nebraska at Washington the next six years in the senate. During his 12 years service he has proved time and again that he not only has the interests of Nebraska at heart but has the faculty and the opportunity to do the worth while things for this state and the nation that his constituents expect of him.

Hitchcock is the leading democrat in the senate today. His influence is next only to the present republican senate leader and he is needed in the upperhouse now even more than during the trying times of war and the years that have followed. Voters should know that Senator Hitchcock has been the greatest advertisement that Nebraska has ever had, not excepting even the so-called Peerless leader. For years the press of the country carried Washington news that featured Hitchcock of Nebraska in their news columns nearly every day. Such a man should be returned to the Capitol by the greatest majority of votes ever recorded.

As a man, the present senator stands high in the estimation of the general public. As Nebraska's senior senator he has stood head and shoulders above any that has preceded him.

Senator Hitchcock is for the Soldier Bonus, and against the infamous new tariff. So are most Nebraskans. His opponent endorses every act of the present administration, which means he must at least tentatively agree with President Harding that the soldiers are not entitled to a bonus and that he will stand by the republican tariff which adds two or three hundred dollars to the annual living cost of each family. Every man that is true to himself and his state should and can with good grace vote to return our present senator.

For Congressman—James H Hanley

So much has been said favorable to the candidacy of James H. Hanley that it would seem a waste of time to further elaborate on his sterling qualities or on the many reasons why he should be elected to represent the second district. Of the scores of reasons why this young and virile man should be sent to Washington none is more patent or impressive than the fact that he is so constituted that he will be on the job day and night fighting for the people he represents. It is a fact that

PEOPLE OF CITY WANT WM. F. WAPPICH AS MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Dinneen, Shotwell and Elgutter Other Candidates, All of Them Popular—Frank Dewey to be Returned as County Clerk—Looks Like Cinch for Lou Adams—Pearce Strong

Just at this stage of the game people are more interested in who's who politically than in any other question, domestic or national. Thousands of readers of this issue are anxious to learn what they can of the candidates that they may go to the polls and cast an intelligent vote.

Two of the most important places on the ticket to be voted on are for municipal judges. Omaha is to be congratulated upon the men they selected at the primaries. All four are good men but only two are to be elected so it will be necessary to use rare discretion in the selection of men for this all important office.

Of the four nominated we do not for one moment hesitate in selecting Judge Wappich as one of the quartet to be elected and if the general public knew him as well as does his personal friends we candidly believe he would be elected by the largest majority ever given a candidate at a local election. Wappich is of a judicial turn of mind and is a man who can temper mercy with judgment when occasion calls. He is stern when an offense and an offender calls for sternness. He is lenient when leniency is called for. His years of experience have taught him how to treat the different cases that come before him. Every man and woman who has the real interests of Omaha at heart will vote for Judge Wappich for a place on the bench.

The other three men who seek a place on the municipal bench are Frank Dinneen, Attorney Shotwell and Charles S. Elgutter. Of the three, Dinneen has had a broad experience as prosecuting attorney for the city that should be of decided advantage to him. Weak in and weak out this young and vigorous lawyer has stood at the judicial footstool as the legal defender of the city. He has made a few enemies of certain crooks and their friends that he has been instrumental in sending to Lincoln, but he has made thousands of friends by the fearless and independent way he has handled the city's prosecutions. The poorest pauper that ever found his way into police court has been treated with the same intelligent consideration by Mr. Dinneen as has the more financially fortunate ones.

Both Mr. Shotwell and Mr. Elgutter have qualifications for the place that should appeal to the voters and they will no doubt receive a very large and encouraging vote.

Not a great deal has been heard concerning the candidacy of Frank Dewey for county clerk. This popular county official has been on the job doing what the people pays him for and has had little time to go about electioneering in his own behalf, but while he has been at the office working the people of the county have made up their mind he is the man they are going to retain as county clerk. Dewey has made good. He has saved the county thousands of dollars and is in a position to save them still more during the following two years. He is opposed by a trade journal editor who is fairly well known on the north

TEETH WIGGLED; COULDN'T TALK

Woman Tells Jury Why She Refused to Pay Her Dentist's Bill.

SHE TOOK THEM BACK

Carried the Pesky Plate in Her Handbag Rather Than in Her Mouth—Jury Hears Her Story and Decides in Her Favor.

Denver, Colo.—A set of false teeth was the bone of contention in a lawsuit in Magistrate Rice's court, in which Dr. N. Wolfson, dentist, sought to collect $30 from Mrs. Dave Handler, patient.

Dr. Wolfson told the court he made the teeth for Mrs. Handler and that Mrs. Handler had refused to pay the sum agreed upon before the work was undertaken. Part of the money had been paid, but he said he didn't understand why the rest still was unpaid.

"Why," exploded Mrs. Handler, "do I not pay the doctor the $30? I'll tell you why," she told the jury.

"You see," began Mrs. Handler, fishing a set of false teeth out of her handbag. "You see those false teeth. Why should I carry them in my handbag instead of in my mouth? I'll tell you. Just as soon as I put the teeth in my mouth, I can't talk a word. When I start to talk the teeth begin to wiggle.

"I go to Dr. Wolfson and I say: 'Doctor, I can't wear these teeth. When I begin to talk the teeth begin to wiggle.' The doctor said: 'So? You should hold them down with your tongue so they won't wiggle.' But how can a person hold the teeth down with the tongue and talk at the same time? I ask you, gentlemen, how can it be done?"

You Bet She Took Them Back.
Attorney Nathaniel Halpern asked Mrs. Handler if she had taken the teeth back to the doctor for adjustment.

"Did I take them back?" echoed Mrs. Handler. "I should say I took them back. Three or four times a week for a year. I went to Dr. Wolfson's office. First it was pyorrhea and my teeth should come out. All right. Sixteen teeth the doctor pulls out. Then he said I should have sixteen false teeth put in. All right. I go down again in a week for the impression.

"He stuffed my mouth with some sticky white stuff. It pretty near made me sick. When I am near choking with my mouth full of this stuff, the doctor say, 'Bite!'

"Now, how could I bite with my mouth full of the white stuff? I ask you gentlemen how could I bite?"

"Well, the doctor keep me coming down to his office for many times, each time to fill my mouth up with the white stuff. It made me sick every time. Then he say bite and I couldn't bite, so it was a long time before he got the bite.

Sent Bite Out to Have Plate Made.
"After he got the bite, he sent the bite out to have a plate made, but I tell you gentlemen from the very day he put the plate in my mouth it wiggles when I try to talk and for the life of me I couldn't talk. I couldn't wear those teeth. They are crooked. On one side they bite, on the other side they miss. And I tell you they wiggle. How can a person use teeth that wiggle?"

"I will give the teeth back to the doctor, if he give me the $100 I spent, but I won't pay him $30. I rather I shall live till I die without teeth than wear teeth that wiggles."

The jury decided a set of teeth that deprived a woman of the privilege of talking should not be paid for and gave a verdict against Dr. Wolfson.

Mobbed for Whipping Stepchild.
Muskogee, Okla.—Newton LeGrande, Tahlequah farmer, being brought here after arraignment in a Tahlequah court on a charge of brutally whipping his six-year-old stepdaughter, was seized by a mob at Hulbert and severely whipped.

Cow and Calf Go on Wild Spree Together

Danville, Va.—How a cow and a calf which had drunk a mixture of water and moonshine liquor invaded the dining-room of Herbert Dillard, son of Judge Peter Dillard of Rocky Mount, is contained in advices reaching here from that point.

Law enforcement officers poured out into the street gutter 500 gallons of liquor seized in a raid. Liquor and water together ran down the street past a lawn where the cow and calf were grazing. Both animals drank and, according to onlookers, quickly showed the effects by unusual antics, especially the calf, which became playful.

The cow charged a tree with lowered horns, then, followed by the calf, entered the porch of the Dillard home, plunging through a screen door into the dining-room. Seeing itself reflected in a mirror the cow charged it, destroying a piece of furniture which contained crockery, nearly all of which was broken.

The cow and calf were driven out of the room and were later seen lying down under the shade of some trees not far away.

FAINTS AT MEETING "DEAD" HUSBAND

Dramatic Scene When Woman, Remarried, Meets Man Supposed Killed in War.

Staunton, Mass.—Mrs. Mary Etta Cleary Leonard-Chartier, thirty-six and pretty, supposed war widow, bride of two months, was strolling along the street on the arm of Victor F. Chartier of Jewett, Conn., her new husband, when she suddenly stood rigid in her tracks. Then with a glad cry of "my husband," she broke from Chartier's arm, rushed up on Edgar Nelson Leonard, discharged soldier, showered him with kisses, then fell in a faint at his feet.

This dramatic denouement of a wartime marital mixup will have its sequel here when Mrs. Leonard-Chartier will appear in First District court on the arm of husband No. 1 to answer to a charge of bigamy brought by husband No. 2.

Mrs. Leonard-Chartier, deliriously happy at being reunited with the husband she supposed resting beneath a white cross in the American cemetery at Romagne, France, readily admits that she has two husbands, but hopes the court can find some way out of her difficulty.

Since the moment she came upon her first husband, with whom she lived happily for 12 years before she tearfully saw him off for France, she has refused to see Victor Chartier and has taken up her residence in the home of Leonard's mother. Chartier says his supposed wife told him frankly that she loved Leonard best and would live with him. He visited the District court clerk and swore to a warrant, which was served on Mrs. Leonard-Chartier.

FOUND LOST RING IN ASHES

Old Prospector Used Knowledge He Gained While Seeking Gold in South Dakota.

Wenatchee, Wash.—For fifteen years Jack Dow panned gold in South Dakota. He prospered. Last February Mrs. Dow lost her $500 diamond ring and all search for it was of no avail. Then Jack decided the ring had been lost while Mrs. Jack was emptying the ashes. He got his old panning outfit and sifted the ashes as he would for gold. Sure enough, the ring was there.

PREST LANDS IN HERD OF CARIBOU

Aviator Is Forced by Engine Trouble to Descend to Earth in Far North.

KILLS ONE FOR FOOD

Set Up Movie Camera to Get Picture of Wild Herd, but Changed Mind When Hundreds of Animals Hove in Sight.

Dawson, Y. T.—Like a chapter from dramatic fiction reads the story of the experience of Clarence O. Prest, the aviator, while trying a flight across Yukon territory and Alaska. He flew with his moving-picture camera above a great herd of caribou and was forced to land in their midst. He slaughtered one to keep from starving. The herd is part of the great body of caribou which annually trek across the region near Dawson and Eagle. Prest had flown by a round-about way from San Bernardino, Cal., to the Far North.

Prest's own story of his experience is told in the following dispatch from Eagle to the Dawson Daily News:

"Thirty minutes out of Eagle my engine bucked. I looked for a landing place and picked what looked like a level spot. It was Niggerhead Flat at the head of Deer creek, eight miles south of Seventy-Mile river. I fixed the engine and noticed a couple of caribou. I set up my movie camera so as to get them. More of them were coming, so I began to see about taking off. Turning, I noticed 500 or 600 caribou all around the airship and camera, and rushed expecting to find the camera ruined, but no damage was done. I got ready to take off but the ship went upon her nose in the soft going and broke the propeller.

Killed a Caribou.

"I had been debating about killing one of the caribou, but the debate ended when the propeller broke, so I killed one with my .32-caliber pistol and butchered him with a pocket knife.

"I was overhauling the motor when a puff of wind finished the job by turning the ship over on her back and breaking the radiator. So I deserted the ship, stripped off the instruments and magnet, and started to pack down to the river. I got down with one load and saw I was not going to make it with the grub I had, so I cached everything and went back to the ship and slept in its tall Sunday night.

"I had left my compass in a cache at the mouth of Ramey creek, so I started without it. I was further out than I thought. I did not pick up the trail and made a lot of unnecessary circles, climbing mountains for observation. It was raining steadily, but I had equipped myself with a small can of gasoline for starting fires.

"My shoes and feet were giving out and I was afraid to lie down to sleep. Finally, I struck the trail at Nimrod Bar, and shortly after a search party hove in sight."

Colored Man Falls Dead in Crap Game.

Blazing Footsteps Mark Wild Flight of Boy

Chickasha, Okla.—Alvin Roberts, fourteen years old, put a tube of phosphorus in his pocket and is near death as a result. His clothing suddenly ignited and soon he was enveloped in flames. He rushed to a blacksmith shop, where he was soused in a tub of water, but the fire started again when he was lifted out. The shop also caught fire.

Rescuers' hands were seared as they stripped the child's garments from him, but his bare body blazed. Papers and blankets were consumed before the fire was finally extinguished.

Where the boy ran in his flight from pain, glowing foot prints were left, where burning phosphorus dripped down his legs. He found the tube in an alley.

MOTHER HEN TOO MUCH FOR CROW

Black Marauder Put to Flight When He Attempts to Carry Off One of Brood.

Lewes, Del.—A mother hen belonging to George Walls, a farmer living along the Georgetown-Rehoboth Beach, has proved that the chicken is a better fighter than old Jim Crow. A day or two ago a hen of the common barnyard variety, while piloting thirteen fluffy youngsters through a wheat stubble, saw a big black crow pounce on one of her little ones and attempt to fly off with it for supper.

The mother then saw the peril of her progeny and leaped in the air, reaching the black kidnaper and belaboring him so severely that he was obliged to drop the chick and fly into a high altitude for safety. Several automobilists who witnessed the battle declare the hen never showed the white feather for a moment nor hesitated in attacking the greatest foe of the chicken family.

They were, however, amazed at the ferocity with which she countered on the black marauder, and the crow himself was evidently taken by surprise at the violence of his assailant, for he winged away at top flight to the nearest woods, leaving two or three neck feathers behind as testimony of the prowess of the mother hen.

In such encounters the crow is considered almost equal to two barnyard fowls under ordinary conditions, but a mother hen evidently is the better fighter of the two when the lives of her brood are at stake and need her defense.

IS WARNED BY MOONSHINERS

Georgia Pastor, Who Discovered 39 Stills, Given One Week to Get Away, Will Stay.

Atlanta, Ga.—The Rev. Robert Stewart, Methodist preacher of Floyd county, Georgia, has been threatened with death because of his activities against "moonshiners" in the North Georgia mountains. A note of warning, found tacked to the parsonage, read: "We have had enough reporting of stills in this settlement. We will give you one week to get away. If you don't, some one will have to take care of your wife and children."

Stewart turned the note over to prohibition officers and announced his intention of continuing his crusade.

"I know how to handle a gun and will not hesitate to use one if occasion demands," he said. He uncovered 39 stills in that region within the last three months.

Twins Look Alike to Mother.
Baltimore, Md.—Edwin and Milton Gosiorowski are twin sons of Mrs. Philipina Gosiorowski. Edwin got lost. His mother left him on a street car. Mrs. Gosiorowski rushed to the police station, but could not remember which of the twins was lost, so she hurried home to ask the other which he was. He said he was Milton, so an alarm was spread for Edwin. Two hours later he was found.

REAL BOSS OF ROYAL FAMILY

Princess Iolanda of Italy Has None of Mother's Timidity.

DEMANDS OWN ALLOWANCE

Plans Her Own Trip to England and Tells Her Mother That She Must Get About to See the World—Breaks All Precedents and Deals Directly With Tailor—Lately She Has Taken to Doing Her Own Shopping.

Princess Iolanda, the eldest child of the king and queen of Italy, is visiting London. She virtually bosses the entire Italian royal family, including her brother, Prince Umberto. She has inherited her mother's beauty, but not her timidity. It was she who planned her trip to England. Being nearly twenty-one, and not having been out of Italy, she told her royal mother that she must get about to see the world.

Probably no commoner's family have lived such a full life as have the royal children. Their mother was so afraid that they would get wrong ideas of life that she rarely allowed them even to have friends in to tea. As for going to visit the children of her ladies-in-waiting, such an innovation was never even suggested. It was only when the new governor of the crown took charge that a change came over the royal family.

Commander Bonaldi, as he was when first he was made aide-de-camp to the king, and later governor of the crown, is a Venetian and a man of good family but not of noble lineage. He became a favorite with the royal children, because he was youngish in years and a cheerful, happy person. They shared his society with that of their brother, and whenever they wanted anything they often talked it over with Bonaldi.

Until this year the queen always ordered clothes for Iolanda, as well as for the other children, but now that Iolanda is grown up she prefers to order her own dresses.

Deals Directly With Tailor.

No doubt the question of a separate allowance for Iolanda might have been held in abeyance had not a letter been received from an Italo-American tailor begging the princess to fill in an inclosed form with her measurements, stating what sort of dress she would like the patriotic overseas tailor to make her. The royal sewing woman was called in and the measurements taken and sent the same day, with a letter from the princess saying that she would like a riding habit, as no one had ever made her one which fitted her perfectly. This step was not according to royal etiquette, as Iolanda should have sent the tailor's application to the secretarial staff of the royal household, who, in turn, would have written a formal note inclosing the measurements. Instead the princess is modern enough and feminine enough to want to attend to things in a hurry. She and her sisters and her brothers all waited anxiously for several months, and Mafalda, who is a terrible tease, worried her poor sister Iolanda because an American tailor had wanted to play a joke on her.

But after three months were over a box was brought to the royal residence, Villa Sabola, outside the Salaria gate, and in it was a wonderful riding habit of covert cloth and also a skirt, in case the princess sometimes rode a side saddle. The suit fitted beautifully, and other costumes would no doubt have been ordered, but the tailor refused to accept payment for the habit, insisting that the letter written so kindly and simply by the princess was enough reward. Of course, under the circumstances, the royal princess could not possibly accept further kindnesses.

This bit of independence on the part of Iolanda led her to broach the subject of a separate allowance. The matter was talked over with the friend and counselor, Admiral Bonaldi (for he had been promoted), and finally the queen agreed.

Does Her Own Shopping.

During the last few months Iolanda has been shopping on her own account and has ordered several dresses, nearly all of them coats and skirts. Her friends say that it is this fondness for coats and skirts which has decided her to order some when she is in London. Until this year she never went to the opera in the evening, as the queen is a great stay-at-home and prefers visiting hospitals and charitable institutions during the daytime, which leaves her ready to retire early at night.

This clustering around the home hearth is not at all to the taste of Princess Iolanda and her sister, Mafalda. They have gradually taken to going to the theater, accompanied by ladies-in-waiting. As no royal balls have been given for seven years, neither has been introduced to the inner circle of society, which is their right, but it is certain that next winter Iolanda must have a coming-out.

Society is not much in either of these girls' life, as they have been brought up to love the open air. Whenever they have a chance they go motoring around the country with only a gentleman in waiting and a chauffeur. The latter has little to do, as Princess Mafalda has already been given her permit as chauffeuse and a very clever one she is. Any visitor to Rome can see her of an afternoon driving about the villa Borghese and the Fincio, in her little two-seater, with a small seat in the rear for the attendant.

Princess Giovanna, the third daughter, is next to Princess Iolanda, the beauty of the family. She lacks the energy of the two older girls and is fond of embroidery and reading. She, too, has been taught tennis and riding, but is a bookworm like her father.

Princess Maria, the baby of the family, is the favorite with her brother, the crown prince, who plays with her many a game of croquet. She is the one delicate member of the family and has been ordered by the doctors to take a cure by the sea. The queen, not wishing to go too far away from her home, chose Civitavecchia, where Prince Odescalchi has a villa, built on a cliff overlooking the sea. The royal couple, of course, could have gone into residence near Pisa, but as they are going to Denmark to return, the visit paid last year by the king and queen of Denmark, they decided that Civitavecchia, being nearer, was the ideal spot, as it is within motoring distance of Rome.

Most Important of Family.

The most important member of the royal family is the Crown Prince Umberto, who, during the last few months, has been visiting the different provinces so that the Italian people may become acquainted with their future king. He has made a decidedly favorable impression on the people. His smile has captured their fancy, and wherever he goes even though it is shopping in Rome, his motorcar is surrounded by admiring crowds, anxious to see him at close range. In the royal entourage he also is very popular, though he, too, has led a very quiet life and has never become intimate with the sons of the gentlemen and ladies-in-waiting. From a very timid boy he has grown into a young man ready for his future job. His father considers him suitable to take his place, and would willingly abdicate, but this, too, would be a disappointment to the people, who admire the patriotism and simplicity of the "first citizen" of Italy.

Even those who consider a monarchy an obsolete institution are united in admitting that though Victor Emmanuel is a king he couldn't be a better head of the state though he were a president.

"We have nothing against our king, and feel it would be a mistake to change him for an ordinary man, who would surely look only to his own interests," I have often heard peasants and workmen say.—Agnes B. Mackenzie in the New York Tribune.

Largely True.

"They have a new car."
"They have? They can't afford it."
"I know; it's always the people who can't afford them who are buying cars nowadays."

More Like It.

"A scientist claims he can weigh one's conscience."
"By the ounce?"
"No; by the scruple, I imagine."

WORKS IN VAIN TO FREE DYING WIFE

Pinned Under Overturned Auto She Is Strangled to Death Before Husband's Eyes.

Franklin, Pa.—While her husband vainly tried to lift an automobile which had overturned and pinned her neck beneath the running board, Mrs. William Howser, forty-eight, strangled to death before his eyes.

Mrs. Howser was able to talk with him for a time, but as the heavy car settled in the soft earth her breath became slower, and she died as he strove in desperation to lift a weight he could not budge.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ferringtons, who were also occupants of the car, suffered injuries and were unable to assist Howser in his efforts.

Howser was driving so fast at a bend that he was unable to make the turn. The car shot to one side of the road and went over an eight-foot embankment. Howser and the Ferringtons were thrown clear of the car, but Mrs. Howser was caught under it when it landed, upside down. The running board rested on her neck.

DON'T FALL FOR SPANISH SWINDLE

Americans Have Quit Going to Spain to Rescue Wealthy Imprisoned Princesses.

GERMANS ARE NOW VICTIMS

Impostors Who Market Adventures to Credulous Investors Give Their Princesses Names of Famous Women Long Dead.

Granada, Spain.—Americans have quit coming to Spain in search of the beautiful and wealthy princesses imprisoned in a dark, damp tower by a greedy uncle who is anxious to annex her fortune.

The historic old Spanish swindle apparently has gone out of fashion in the United States, but it is still in vogue in other parts of the world. Germany has recently supplied quite a crop of kind-hearted gentlemen who advanced money for the release of the dark-eyed Spanish beauty who was suffering in a rat-infested cell and slowly dying on a diet of bread and water while the bats hovered about her head and added to the terrors of her solitary confinement.

Beauties in Granada.

Granada has always been a popular center for the men who have contributed to the relief of imprisoned beauties. Washington Irving and scores of lesser writers have credited Granada with having more beautiful women than any other city in the world.

The legend of the Rose of the Alhambra and the stories of the three beautiful princesses, Zayda, Zorayda and Zorahayda, hover about the Alhambra and make it the natural refuge for disappointed investors in distressed beauty.

So it is not strange that searchers for princesses should come to Granada after having sought vainly for mythical castles in mythical mountains. Most of the modern Spanish princesses are being held captives in castles by the sea. Castles by the sea are so much damper, and then it is much more romantic for rescue parties to approach the rock coast in ships and wave to the imprisoned princess, who will promptly tear her clothing to bits and make a rope with which she will lower herself from the gloomy tower.

Many of the impostors who are marketing adventure to credulous investors give their princesses the names of famous women who have been dead for centuries. Moraymah and Aishah, queens of the Moorish regime, who have been dead for over 400 years, and many other celebrities of history and legend have lent their names to princesses supposed to be in distress.

Visitors Are Warned.

Hotel keepers in Granada have become skilled in detecting visitors who are searching for imprisoned beauties. They usually make very guarded inquiries and seldom admit they have been duped. Frequently they inquire for gypsy fortune tellers, or astrologers, who probably charge well for their services.

Letters concerning the distressed princesses are usually marked strictly confidential, and instructions are given that nothing must be said to anyone lest the life of the princess be endangered. Most of the dupes are too much ashamed of their plight to confess openly that they have been gulled.

BIRD DIES WITH HER YOUNG

Killed in Forest Fire in New Jersey Rather Than Desert Her Nest.

Asbury Park, N. J.—A dead gaunt pine was a giant torch half way up its length in the big woods fire, which swept the outskirts of Brielle recently. At the very top was a giant fish-hawk nest, and braving the inferno of flame and smoke a parent bird hovered over the nest with a fish in its beak for the three baby inmates craning their necks over the edge. Finally, wheeling in desperation, the bird conquered its terror and settled upon the nest just as the tree toppled with a resounding crash into the blazing underbrush, carrying the hawk mother and babes to death.

To Honor Noted Frenchman.

The French Academy of Sciences has been officially informed that Switzerland is preparing to commemorate the centenary of the great French mechanician and watchmaker, Abraham Louis Breguet. Born in Neuchatel in 1747, member of the Institut and Bureau of Longitudes, he died in Paris in 1823. The astronomical and nautical instruments invented by Breguet were noted for the perfection of their workmanship. His improvements in watches included the use of rubies in pivot holes. He fled to London during the Reign of Terror, but returned after the ninth Thermidor. On the occasion of this centenary the Swiss council of state will hold next year an international competition for chronometers in the observatory of Neuchatel.

LAST CONGRESS MISSED FIRE

Referring to the failure of the last Republican Congress, Senator Hitchcock said that this Congress had a splendid opportunity when it came into power to make good the boast that the republican party is the party of prosperity. Instead of this its utter failure to meet the situation has made it the party of adversity. Last year we had in the United States more business failures than ever before in our history—something over 21,000. This year the record of disaster will be much worse. At the present rate we shall have 27,000 business failures in the United States. In agriculture the record for two years has been just as disastrous. The enormous losses and hardships of western farmers and the bankruptcy of southern planters have been distressing.

Causes of Distress

- Two causes for these conditions are easily seen:
1. The drastic deflation of credit which forced down prices of agricultural products, rapidly and unreasonably.
 2. The collapse of our foreign commerce which in two years has fallen from $13,000,000,000 a year to $6,000,000,000 so that we have not been able to find a market for surplus products.
- For the first of these evils the republican leaders are responsible, for the second they have done nothing to propose a remedy. Republican responsibility for drastic deflation began in the republican platform adopted in June, 1920. That platform denounced the "gross expansion of our currency and credit," under the democratic administration and pledged the republican party to "a courageous and intelligent deflation of over expanded credit and currency."

That was plain talk and a direct notice to the Federal Reserve board of what the republican managers demanded. The republican senate only three weeks earlier had, by resolution, called upon the board to report what it proposed to do to reduce "currency and credit inflation." Undoubtedly, therefore, the policy of the board was influenced then and afterwards by the demands of republican leaders for deflation.

The result was a drastic and damaging curtailment of credit, a reduction of currency and a fall in prices, especially among the farming classes, west and south.

Nothing to Help Commerce

The second cause of hard times which he mentioned is the collapse of our foreign commerce and he charged that nothing has been done to revive it. Two years ago our foreign commerce amounted to $13,000,000,000. Of that amount our exports were $8,000,000,000 and our imports $5,000,000,000. Now our foreign commerce amounts to only $6,000,000,000, of which exports are $3,500,000,000 and our imports $2,500,000,000. Those figures mean that we are not able to sell our great surpluses abroad. That is the chief reason for our depression in the United States. We have lost more than half our foreign market for cattle, meats, copper, cotton, oil, wheat and manufactured goods. We have lost it and are doing nothing to regain it. Our great trade languishes and we are doing nothing to revive it. Indeed, by the high tariff bill it is proposed to throttle that trade still more by excluding the very products with which Europe must pay for our products.

Nations' Bank Needed

To his mind there exists the need for a great constructive act to revive our foreign commerce. He believes it can be stimulated just as we stimulate domestic commerce by the use of credit and currency. He believes the only way to provide credit and currency for international commerce is by means of a bank—a great international bank.

It is easy to explain why the Omaha Bee and the Omaha Daily News are eager to defeat Senator Hitchcock. He is their competitor in Omaha. His newspaper, the World-Herald, publishes more advertising every month than the Bee and News combined. That's why they're sore.

The Lodge-Brandegge-Newberry leadership in Congress and at the White House doesn't care what happens to the farmers of the West. What farmers need is to get men at Washington who, like Senator Hitchcock, will work for their interests.

Democratic legislatures used to appropriate less than $10,000,000 to run the state for each two-year period. Now the appropriations run in the neighborhood of $30,000,000.

WANTS TO KNOW WHO

5000 COMMITTEE IS A letter addressed to the Mediator asks: "Who is this 5000 Committee I see so much about in the newspapers?"

The Mediator is not officially informed as to the 5000 Committee, but it is our understanding that it is composed of Elmer E. Thomas and two other Omaha gentlemen. From the same source, we are informed that the 5000 Committee actually controls four or five votes beside their own, they being the misinformed wives of the members of the "committee."

Some of the friends of Candidates Magney and Endres are congratulating these two gentlemen that Messrs Thomas and Wead did not hold their meeting last week and tack their endorsement onto the candidacy of those two very highly esteemed gentlemen, who already have enough troubles of their own.

It is the habit of this "Committee" to call a meeting whenever they run out of money. Just now they are said to be plentifully supplied with filthy lucre but are not putting any of it out. It is all needed to support Thomas and keep up the reputation of Wead.

The Irony of Fate.

HANLEY FOR CONGRESS

JAMES H. HANLEY

OPINION OF A GREAT STATESMAN

Hon. Champ Clark, speaker of the House of Representatives for many years, said: "No man should be elected to the House simply to gratify his ambition. Select a man YOUNG enough to learn and grow, with capacity, industry, energy, and courage; keep him there so long as he discharges his duties faithfully and well. A wide acquaintance with the Members helps him amazingly in doing things."

THE JAMES H. HANLEY FOR CONGRESS CLUBS believe Hanley possesses these qualifications. We shall appreciate your co-operation in efforts to elect him.

THE HANLEY COMMITTEE

ELECTION NOVEMBER 7, 1922.

READ RECORD OF BAUMAN AND SURE AS CITIZENS AND OFFICIALS

He and they are going to respond in such a decisive manner that there will be no doubt left as to where he stands in the estimation of the general public. He knows that he will be able to help reduce the tax burden the people are carrying and the public may rest assured that he will be faithful to the public trust they are going to give into his hands.

G. O. P. HAS MANY GOOD
MEN ON THE TICKET

that the people of this district think the less of him and they will no doubt prove this at any time he may ask their support for any place on any judicial ticket that he may in the future seek.

FOR SHERIFF—MIKE CLARK

Mike Clark has been sheriff of Douglas county long enough that the general public knows just where he stands on all matters concerning that office. The duties of the office are many and varied as well as difficult and perplexing but Mr. Clark has always been big enough to meet every condition in a manner that has met with the approval of the general public. After two terms of office he comes before the voters with a record of which any man should well be proud.

The present sheriff is a big man in every way and has made thousands of friends among all classes of people by his method of handling the difficult positions that come up for consideration in this important office. Many of Clark's friends expect to see him receive a record vote and go so far as to insist that he will head the republican ticket in Omaha on election day. Michael Clark has made good in office and there is not a single reason to suppose that he will not repeat if he is re-elected.

FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY—
HENRY BEAL

It would be hard to say whether Henry Beal is running for county attorney on the republican or democratic ticket by any one a stranger in the city as to all appearances the voters are forgetting political lines so far as he is concerned. Mr. Beal has made himself the most popular assistant to the county attorney of any man that has ever held that position. He is a young man that has paid close attention to his own line of work and has made his work count.

It is doubtful if there is a single man running for office this year in Omaha who is so universally well known and liked as is Henry Beal. He is a clear thinking independent American and will be a great credit to the county as its prosecutor. If elected he is sure to be impartial and just. Mr. Beal has a bright future before him and a term or two as county attorney will no doubt be a stepping stone to still greater things politically. Watch Henry Beal for the next few years. You are going to see him sitting on the top rung of a tall ladder.

FOR GOVERNOR—CHARLES
RANDALL

So far as this paper is concerned we believe that both parties could have nominated men to lead the state ticket that would have appealed more to the voters than do Randall or Bryan, but both men have their following because of certain things they have accomplished in the past. Mr. Randall is a supporter of the present code law that burdens the Nebraska statutes and tax payers but he has been generally right on most things and would probably make a better governor than would Bryan who lays claim to lasting fame principally on account of being a brother to some one.

More people are in doubt as to how they should vote for governor this year than on any other one office. Everything considered it would seem that Randall should be the man for the place.

WILLIAM CURRAN

PROMISES RELIEF TO

them to the brink of adversity. You know full well that many an unfortunate must of necessity tread that long miserable path over the hill to the poorhouse. There he or she must exist (not live) until the Reaper in His goodness folds him or her to His bosom and says, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, come unto Me"—then takes him to a better land.

Just suppose, Mr. and Mrs. Voter, that some relative or dear friend of yours should have fallen into a dark labyrinth of misfortune that eventually led to worse than the grave, worse than to a jail—to the poor house, and by no possible means could you lift the veil of misfortune. What is the least you could hope for him? A decent place to lay his troubled head—treatment that any Christian would give a common canine—food that would at least nourish? At least that, even the devil would feel like giving, but even that little is not given to the wards of the county now. You can change that if you will, by voting to place your good neighbor, William J. Curran, as one of the county commissioners.

William Curran will see to it that the poor unfortunates who must spend their few remaining months or years at the poor farm shall be treated like human beings. We know he will do this because he has said that he will, and his word is good.

It is with great pleasure that the Mediator can truthfully say so much of William Curran, the more so because no one connected with this office has ever met him personally, has no obligations to him or he to us, but we do know through others that when he says he will use all his efforts to correct this terrible condition at the county poor farm that he will not only try but that he will succeed.

Once more let us say, vote for Curran that he may be given the opportunity to serve those that seem, but are not, forgotten altogether by the Great Engineer who in the end rights all wrongs. You owe this vote of confidence to William Curran, you owe it to yourself, you owe it to your God and you owe it to the poor devils out at the County Poor Farm, who are hoping, mayhap against hope, that some such man as he will be placed in a position by the voters where he can and will lift them from utter despair and hopelessness to a measure of contentment and peace in their fading years.

side, favorably by a few and not so favorably among the many.

Another man at present a county official who is sure to land right side up on November 7th is Harry Pearce, register of deeds. In our next week's issue we will tell the voters of Douglas county some of the many reasons why he should be retained in his present place.

Louis Adams will be returned as county surveyor, that is certain beyond a reasonable doubt. Adams through long experience is the best qualified man in the western country to handle the affairs of the office of which he is the present head. He could go blind folded over every road in the county and tell at any moment exactly where he was at. Lou is not a swivel chair official. He is out on the job every minute he can spare from the office, seeing to it that the work at hand is being done as it should be. A vote for him is a vote for better county roads and efficient administration.

Flapper Love Sends Evelyn Couture to Death and Kenneth Gumm to Hospital.

BREAKS UP WEDDING

Marriage Festivities Turned Into Tragedy by Infatuated Girl—Bride Tells Story of Dead Girl's Persistence.

Toledo, Ohio.—Flapper love, violent and passionate, but shallow and impotent, sent Evelyn Couture, nineteen years old, of Sylvania, to her death by her own hand and put Kenneth P. Gumm, twenty-one, of Toledo, in a hospital with a bullet in his lung.

Mrs. Pearl Thomas Gumm, wife of the wounded man, is a candidate for the state senate in the primary election. She has espoused the cause of short skirts, bobbed hair and other features of a liberal platform.

Wedding festivities of young Gumm and his bride of a few hours were halted by an insistent knock on the door of the bride's apartment on the evening of the wedding day. When it was answered Evelyn Couture, the sinister shadow of the Gumm's courtship, stood in the hall. She formerly had held a place in Gumm's favor.

Asks Girl to Depart.

Mrs. Gumm, realizing that the girl was agitated over the news that young Gumm had married, asked why Miss Couture did not go away and leave them alone.

"He's mine, Pearl Thomas," she replied to the bride who formerly was Pearl Thomas, manicurist and artist model. Mrs. Gumm attempted to persuade the girl to go away and not make a scene on account of the marriage.

"Oh, what's the use," she replied despondently.

Then, according to Mrs. Gumm, the Couture girl asked that Mrs. Gumm step out into the hallway.

"After a recent experience with her, I was afraid to do this. Then she said she wished to see Kenneth," the bride said.

"He came out of the bathroom and saw her. He said: 'Go home, we're married. Let us alone.'"

"She insisted that she wanted to see him for a moment and came into the room, carrying a flapper hat in her hand. Kenneth said: 'I suppose you have a gun again. Well, if you have, you might as well shoot. I eat bullets.'"

"Of course, he didn't think she would shoot, but she walked up to him and pulled the gun from under her hat and fired. I had started downstairs and turned at the shot. She had thrown her arms around him, but even though wounded, he flung her from him toward a corner. Then I heard another shot, and, running back, thought she had shot him again. When I reached the door she was falling to the floor. She had killed herself. When I saw her there, all crumpled up and Kenneth wounded, I fainted.

"She didn't love Kenneth and he didn't love her. She might have been infatuated with what I would call flapper love, but there was nothing deep about her affection.

"I truly love my husband, although it has only been in the last few weeks that we have been together much, after a long estrangement. During these weeks this girl continually followed us. Kenneth told me he was through with her.

"As late as two nights before the wedding I wanted to terminate our friendship and give Kenneth to her if he wanted to go to her, but he assured me that there was nothing to his friendship with her and that he merely had spent some time with the Couture girl while we were estranged. Three weeks ago he told me he was ready to settle down and we started going together again.

"Then Miss Couture interfered. Recently she met us on the street and pulled a gun on us. Kenneth told her to stop talking about him as he was through."

EASTERN STYLE OF PLAY

Andy Smith, coach of the California team, formerly played for Pennsylvania and he uses the eastern style of play. On defense the Californians use the Pennsylvania system, which consists in driving the play in. Ends and tackles all change to the inside, seven men apparently driving toward one point from ten to fifteen yards behind the line of scrimmage. It is a system that many teams have used with much success. California also likes the open style football.

COACH YOST FAVORS FOOTBALL OF TODAY

Present Open Style of Play is Most Satisfactory.

Modern Game With Its Varied Play More Interesting to Player and Spectator Than the Old Bucking Tactics.

Coach Yost, of the University of Michigan, has joined the ranks of that group of coaches who believe the present day football teams are superior to those of a decade or more ago, when brawn was the chief requisite for a college gridiron player.

All things being equal, the average university or college team of today would administer a beating to the average team of ten years ago, in Yost's opinion.

The Michigan mentor, who has completed 27 years of coaching experience, declared that the present style of open play on the gridiron is more satisfactory in every way than the old bucking tactics. He said the modern game, with its varied play, was more interesting to player and spectator alike and had had much to do with increased popularity of the sport.

"The new game has all the elements of the old, with a number of interesting new features thrown in," Yost said. "It provides an opportunity for use of brains on the part of each player that the old style of contest did not. Present day teams also are better coached. This is necessary because a squad that has not been drilled in the forward pass, both on defense and offense, is lost."

Coach Yost said that the present football rules would stand for years, declaring the game was perfection except for a few technicalities that eventually were to be smoothed out.

FORWARD-PASS NOW FIXTURE

Once Considered Joke Play Has Become Part of Every Well-Rounded Gridiron Attack.

There was a time when the forward pass in football was considered a joke play.

Back in 1906 when the move, was first permitted under the rules, coaches were almost a unit in declaring that it was only "outdoor basketball," and common sense would soon rule it out of the code.

Now it is a part of every well-rounded attack and no coach dare disregard it as an offensive weapon. The play's possibilities have not yet been exhausted and teams become more proficient with it every season.

SURE OF BIG LEAGUE BERTH

Johnny Stuart, Former Ohio State University Football Star, Ready for Fast Company.

Johnny Stuart, former Ohio State University football star, will be back in the major leagues next year. When tried out by the Cardinals, he showed lack of experience. Rickey immediately sent him to Syracuse. One of his impressive pitching achievements with that club is an iron-man stunt. He recently pitched and won both games of a double-header against the Jersey City Skeeters. The second affair went 10 innings. Stuart's showing in general has been good enough to warrant a return to the big line.

Zoo Bear Gets Loose, Crowd Flees in Panic

Poughkeepsie.—Billy, a black bear, who has been in the zoo here for only a few months, escaped from his cage and started in the general direction of his former home in the Michigan woods. Children at play in the park saw Billy and scattered, screaming, in all directions. Their yells attracted John Schaumberger, the keeper, and employees of the board of public works.

Billy finally was lassoed and returned to his quarters.

Billy had made his escape once before, but when his keeper went to look for him Billy had been so taken up with watching a cage full of brightly colored pheasants that he had gone no further.

DISMISSED SLEUTH LANDS HIS MAN

Detective, Fired Because of Prisoner's Escape, Pays Own Expenses in Chase.

Pittsburgh.—Patrick E. Moran, discharged detective of this city, handed back to "cheated justice a prize that had been sought in the crime centers of Philadelphia, New York City, and Paris, France, when, in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., he caused the arrest of Rocco Depippo, alleged master criminal, whose escape caused Moran's dismissal from the Pittsburgh force three years ago after sensational charges of graft had been made against him.

When Depippo escaped, Moran took up the chase on his own initiative, paid all his own expenses in tracing the man from city to city, and, when he had cornered his prize, stepped aside to enable Wilkes-Barre officers to make the arrest and claim the reward. Moran wanted only to prove that he had been falsely branded when he was accused of permitting Depippo to escape.

Depippo faces in Pittsburgh indictment on a total of 38 counts for burglary and other charges. Moran's original warrant was served on Depippo in Cherbourg, France. After being returned to Pittsburgh, and released on bail, Depippo escaped, due, it was said, to Moran's connivance. Depippo now asserts that he had accomplices, but they were not connected with the police department, and he absolves Moran from any assistance in his escape.

Moran took up the chase after his dismissal, and during its many turns he traveled through most of the Eastern states, and parts of France and England. He caught Depippo in Wilkes-Barre just as the famous criminal was making ready for another dash to Europe.

SWORDFISH PIERCES A BOAT

Schooner's Crew Fights Four Hours as Monster Tears Planking of Vessel.

Boston, Mass.—A four-hour battle with a 350-pound swordfish off the Georges bank was described by the crew of the fishing schooner Nyoda, which arrived with the fish and a hole in her planking as exhibits in support of the tale.

Capt. Charles Neisen said the monster tore a three-inch gash in the schooner's planking a foot above the water line.

Lightning Sealed Youth's Mouth. Portland, Me.—When lightning struck a building in which he was sitting, Thomas C. Crocker, was unable to open his mouth, his jaws having become rigid. Companions had a hard time to force open his jaws. The boy was well, with the exception of a headache, when a physician arrived. His companions' quick action saved Crocker from serious illness or death, the doctor said.

OTTO SINKIE MAKING HARD RACE FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

Otto Sinkie, independent candidate for County Attorney, is making a strong fight in his personally conducted campaign for election. Otto is a petition candidate and stands openly on a light beer and wine platform. He does not go about the bush on the matter but tells the voters just where he stands on this all important question.

Sinkie is against prohibition under the present enforcement laws and is against the bootlegger. He would have the government sanction the making of light wines and beer but does not want to see the open saloon return. He is a good lawyer and a young man that is bound sooner or later to find his name in the political hall of fame.

FATHER JOHN WILLIAMS STILL EDITOR OF THE MONITOR

Colored people of Omaha have a right to know that though The Monitor, a weekly paper published in the interests of the colored race, has changed hands, Father John Albert Williams is still the editor.

The kind minister who so long struggled to maintain a clean newspaper in the interest of his race found that it was impossible to longer finance the worthy project. His appeals for added funds and business did not meet with the ready response that he had reason to believe would be forthcoming.

For years the Waters-Barnhart Printing company has helped carry the burden that in common is imposed on all newspapers. The time came when through circumstances over which they had no control they found it necessary to take over the publication. Meanwhile they retained Father Williams as editor with a stipulated remuneration. This most reverend gentleman and Christian can now go ahead with the publication unfettered by financial responsibilities and give to his many readers a still better and greater newspaper than was possible than when he was publisher as well as editor.

LOCAL THEATRES PROMISE UNUSUAL ENTERTAINMENT

Rialto Showing a Fascinating Picture Entitled "Skin Deep"—Orpheum Enjoying Splendid Patronage During their Third of a Century Anniversary Week—"Step Lively" Coming

Amusement lovers of Omaha have been pleased with the varied entertainment that has been offered them by local theatres the current week and will have better reason still to thank Omaha theatre managers for what they will have to offer the coming week.

First of all there is the magnificent production of "Skin Deep", now playing and to run through the following week at the Rialto. This is a most unusual movie production and should be seen by every one in the city that admires a fast and interesting screen production.

This reminds us that Julius Johnson, manager of the Rialto, has under his wing a corps of scenic artists who have the ability to illustrate in pictures the productions to be shown at this theatre that would be a credit to any artist. Just how this work is done and by whom will be told in next week's issue of this paper and we want our readers to look for it as it will give them an insight into an artistic line of work being produced in this city and may portray just how the trick is turned.

It must be gratifying indeed to Billie Burns, popular manager of the Orpheum to see the great crowds flocking to the theatre on their third of a century anniversary. Omaha is indeed happy in the thought that this city was selected by Martin Beck as one of the first places to locate. The Orpheum has been a success and justly so. Before long a new and wonderful Orpheum theatre will be built which will add to the already long list of fine modern theatre edifices that now grace our downtown streets.

The Gayety management has secured for next week the Columbia circuit's most popular burlesque show, "Step Lively". It is clean and full of pep. It should draw a record attendance.

The Empress theatre has a splendid bill booked for the week beginning Sunday. The vaudeville the first half promises to outdo any previous efforts put forth by Mr. Ledoux.

MELODRAMA PLACED ON NEW HIGH LEVEL BY INCE'S "SKIN DEEP"

Production Replete With Thrills and Has Universal Appeal for Audiences—To Be Shown at the Rialto Beginning Oct. 23.

Placing the art of the finished melodrama on a new high level, Thomas H. Ince has found an attractive and palpable method of telling a crook-type play of the underworld, saturated with thrills and heart throbs, in a manner to suit the most fastidious, in his latest special production, "Skin Deep".

"Skin Deep" is a picture that will appeal alike to picture patrons who are attracted by favorite players or corking good stories. The production carries a fascinating story well portrayed.

It is the amazing story of a crook whose criminal tendencies were found to be only "skin deep" when, following a frightful fall from an airplane, a skilled plastic surgeon gave him an entirely new identity by remoulding his facial features. Relieved of the handicap of a crook-type face, Bud Doyle found it not only hard to "go wrong" but very easy to tread the "straight and narrow" when those around him weren't expecting him to do the crooked thing. Although many thrills and stirring incidents enter into the story before the master crook undergoes the transformation of his facial features, the real down-to-bedrock melodrama begins with the transformation of the crook and the consequent entrance into his life of the wholesome, beautiful young girl who was his nurse.

Naturally such a close-to-nature story calls for a real cast of "human being" actors of stellar magnitude. In this respect "Skin Deep" bears the true Thomas H. Ince stamp, for its cast includes such notables in the screen world as Milton Sills, Florence Vidor, Marcia Manon, Frank Campeau and others.

"Skin Deep" is replete with thrills, yet it is to the credit of Mr. Ince that at no time in this startling play of the underworld, does he resort to cheap sensationalism in putting his story across.

The most spectacular incident in the entire production is the amazing episode where Bud Doyle, escaping from prison, is snatched from the roof of a speeding express train by an accomplice who pilots an airplane from which swings a rope ladder.

AT THE EMPRESS

Douglas Carter, Colored Comedian in Owen Moore Cast.

"Love Is An Awful Thing", coming to the Empress theatre Sunday for four days, has a cast of expert farceurs headed by Owen Moore. The star has achieved unusual success in "The Poor Simp", "The Chicken in the Case" and "Reported Missing". His chief aid in this current picture is Douglas Carter, the colored comedian who is being hailed as another Bert Williams. Also in the cast of this latest Selznick picture is the internationally famous Snitz Edwards. The feminine contingent includes Marjorie Daw, Kathryn Perry and Charlotte Mineau.

HE DROVE A FORD

There was a man who fancied,
By driving good and fast,
He could get across the track

GEO. P. (Hot Dog) MURPHY With "Step Lively Girls" at the popular Gayety twice daily all next week.

GEORGE P. MURPHY AND GEORGE DOUGLAS

Head "Step Lively Girls" at the Popular Gayety—Week Starting Tomorrow.

That perennial favorite, George P. Murphy, will regale patrons of the Gayety theatre as the featured one in the "Step Lively Girls" offering that begins a week's engagement Saturday matinee. This season Murphy is being exploited in a new type of "Dutch" comedy role, while still retaining the "Hot Dog" character he created in musical comedy and burlesque ten years ago. During the progress of the two acts and twelve scenes in "Suite Sixteen", Murphy will play three different roles, all of comedy bent and all likely to further establish him as a local favorite.

Aiding the star in the fun division will be George Douglas, another type of eccentric comedian; Harry Hills, straight man, and Walter St. Clair, light comedian. Another player bound to gain great popularity during the engagement of the "Step Lively Girls" is Sadie Banks who lately came to burlesque from the Yiddish stage. Miss Banks has abundant dramatic talent and there will be opportunity in plenty for her to range her offerings from low comedy to intensely emotional acting.

In the matter of costuming for chorus and principals it is declared that expense has been a matter of small consideration while ornate and dazzling results have been of chief moment in preparing "Suite Sixteen" for presentation.

The Sunday matinee starts at 3:00. There will be a ladies' matinee at 2:15 daily all week starting Monday.

There wasn't any prohibition question. Everybody had settled it in their own way. The wets were always dry and so were the dries.

"OLD MAN JOHNSON" OF GAYETY SET NEW STANDARD IN BURLESK

Pioneer of the Girlie-Girlie Show in Omaha Traveled a Distance of Five Times Around the World to Take the "Burs" Out of Burlesque—Entertainment Now on High Level

There's very few folks in Omaha but whom will recognize in the visage of the soaring spirit pictured above being none other than that of Old Man Johnson, manager of the Gayety, who has, in fact, reigned supreme in Omaha as Burlesque's Guardian Angel these many years. In the use of the word "angel" it is not meant to imply that he has, of late years, been the backer of any shows—neither does it mean that he is a dead one. What is meant is that with unflagging sincerity he has guarded and directed along a safe course for the past thirteen or fourteen years the succession of musical burlesque attractions that have been sent to Omaha at the rate of upward of forty companies each season by the Columbia Amusement Company—shaped their course insofar as the style of the entertainment he believed would be satisfactory to Omaha is concerned. That his ideas as to what should be presented and what should be omitted have been correct at least 51 per cent of the time (and that's an exceptionally good average for anyone who attempts to guess show business) is a fact admitted long ago.

As an instance of Old Man Johnson's insistence that the performances be made free from that which in the old days of burlesque caused the shows to cater to a male audience only, he made it a portion of his routine each week to journey to the city where the company to play in Omaha the following week was appearing that he might personally witness the performance and sanitize it, as it were. During the thirteen seasons that he has made these trips with religious regularity he traveled approximately 125,000 miles—and all in the interest of a clean stage; a conscientious effort to lift burlesque from the slough it had fallen into solely through the lack of perception on the part of the owners of the various shows, many of whom could not be readily made to understand that every man, woman and child would gladly extend their patronage if they would but cast out the risqué and suggestive situations and the coarse language and profanity which for years constituted much of the stock in trade of the old school burlesque organization.

In the earlier days of his journeyings his eliminations would cover many pages. Gradually the show owners began to see the light, as it were, and to concede that Old Man Johnson and his system was a business builder unequalled by any method of publicity as yet devised. Proof of this was shown by the fact that in cities many times the size of Omaha where the performance was given in its original form, business or attendance wasn't nearly as good as in Omaha where an audience of ladies and gentlemen was attracted to the Gayety through the medium of the cleanliness of the performances. And so, as one show owner after another became aware of this condition insisted on by Old Man Johnson and its attendant and never-failing result, the idea spread to many other cities on the circuit until Mr. Johnson found that the shows had, of their own volition, eliminated the very things that he had been protesting against for years—barred them out so thoroughly that further railroading by him is now unnecessary—a condition he hails with much satisfaction, as his weekly journey, which to the layman might be considered a sinecure, had become after years of devotion to it, a most tiresome and arduous item of duty as it meant an early train out and a late train in week after week, season after season.

Today it is conceded that there is no cleaner stage entertainment offered in Omaha than in the Gayety, and the credit for this agreeable condition belongs to none other than Old Man Johnson. True it is that many people still refrain from attending the superb entertainments at the Gayety simply thru their insistence that as burlesque was, in the old days, really unworthy of the attention of clean minded people, it cannot now be. But the joke is on these same uncharitable people, for if they were but open to conviction they would soon realize that at the Gayety's popular scale of prices they would see week after week musical shows far superior in their entertainment qualities and equipment to what they have paid three times the price to see time after time. A single visit would demonstrate this.

And another thing that Old Man Johnson is rightfully chuckling over is the fact that he has now seen some of the would-be contenders for burlesque supremacy in Omaha fall by the wayside for the very simple reason that Omaha did not want them. One of them was the Western Wheel Burlesque shows that eked out a miserable existence for a couple of seasons at the old Krug Theatre.

Old Man Johnson says: "Bring on the next one; the Columbia Amusement Company is impregnable and the little old Gayety will continue along its merry policy regardless." And the old boy is right; you've gotta hand it to the Gayety and its dependable line of standard attractions—and they're better this season than ever before.

More power to you, Old Man Johnson—you've the goods the public want.

ORPHEUM ATTRACTIONS

Wesley Barry, "The Boy of a Million Freckles," To Appear in Person Next Week

Wesley Barry, known as "the boy with a million freckles," is coming in person to headline the Orpheum show next week. Everybody who attends the motion picture theatres knows this juvenile star of the screen. On the stage he is appearing with a company of ten carefully chosen players in the entertaining sketch, "Welcome Home." The one-act play was originated by him as the result of an actual experience. It deals with his return to his home town after working in the studios at Hollywood.

Irving Newhoff and Dode Phelps in "Tuneful Tales" will provide one of the featured acts of the show. In the skit, "The Last Car," Billy Wayne and Ruth Warren will offer another of the featured acts.

Newhoff and Phelps have repeatedly demonstrated their ability as co-writers. They feature their own conception of the comedy lyric, "Ain't We Got Fun." This is a bit of travesty very laughably presented.

The skit to be presented by Wayne and Warren is the work of Paul Gerardi Smith. The players engage in a humorous dispute, arguing and arguing, and are so taken up with the argument that, late at night, they miss the last car that should have taken them to their home in the suburbs.

Excerpts from musical comedy will be presented by Frank DeVoe and Al Lloyd. Mr. Lloyd is an expert pianist and DeVoe is a singing comedian.

Johnny Singer with his dancing dolls is to offer a unique entertainment. The dolls are the two graceful girls who appear with him.

Cooke, Mortimer and Harvey are international cyclists. They are to introduce their famous novelty, "A Ball Game in the Dark."

A dance departure is to be presented by Bert and Hazel Skatelle. They dance gracefully on roller skates, and the man of the team is a very amusing comedian.

Once again the cartoon comic, Aesop's Fables, will be a screen feature. Topics of the Day and Pathe Weekly will also be shown.
